

HINDENBURG STRIVING TO END CRISIS

LARGE U. S. DRY FORCE ENTERS LIQUOR DRIVE

335 New Officers Bring Total Strength to 1,900, Biggest in History

END TWO-WEEK STUDY

Greatest Pressure in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago Regions

Washington—(P)—Federal prohibition enforcement today embarked on a new era, to be marked by the biggest force of dry agents yet thrown against commercial liquor law violators.

The expectation at the prohibition bureau here was that by nightfall a brigade of 335 new agents, bringing the force to about 1,900, its high peak in history, would be ready for active duty. Officials had said that most of them completed a two-week course of intensive training yesterday, with the remainder to finish today.

Under present plans the greatest pressure in the new campaign will be exerted in the New York, Philadelphia and Chicago districts.

Nearly half of the new force will be stationed in or around these cities. In addition these sections already have received more than 65 of the 165 agents placed in the field months ago, when an emergency appropriation by the last congress enabled this many of the 500 new men authorized to begin work before July 1.

Nevertheless, Howard T. Jones, acting prohibition director, warned against any expectation of an immediate increase in enforcement results.

All of the freshly trained agents will be required to work with more experienced men for some time, he said, making it several months before the force is expanded to its maximum.

Points to Record

Records of enforcement just completed by the bureau for June, Jones asserted, clearly illustrate the work being done by the 165 men put into the field before the start of the fiscal year. He explained figures to show that the arrest of more than 7,000 violators and the seizure of nearly 800,000 gallons of beer and 187,000 gallons of spirits considerably surpassed the totals for May.

Here is how the prohibition bureau plans to distribute the 335 new agents: 13 for Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut; 65 for New York State; 50 for Pennsylvania, Delaware, and New Jersey; 16 for Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina; 28 for Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, and Texas; 27 for Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan; 51 for Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin; 28 for Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota.

Smaller numbers will be sent into the remaining districts. Seventeen will work in Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma; 9 in Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico; 13 in California and Nevada; and 15 in Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington.

WHEAT FARMERS SEEK HELP FROM BANKERS

Kansas City—(P)—Wheat farmers of the southwest have turned to their bankers, implement companies and merchants for relief from debts which are forcing some to market grain at prices ranging as low as 25 cents a bushel at country shipping points.

A. James Gagr, Okla. president of the Oklahoma Grain Dealers' association, describes the situation as "the worst in my experience of thirty years."

Seeking a moratorium on debts that will permit them to hold their product for a month or more, farmers have carried their plea not to the government, but to the influential men of their own communities.

The grain growers of northern Oklahoma expected at least temporary relief from a conference of their organization leaders with machinery dealers and bankers in Elid tonight.

Faces Operation

Washington—(P)—Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, Arkansas Democrat, is resting in the Naval hospital here awaiting an operation for the removal of a stone from a kidney.

The senator has been in the hospital for several days for observation and examination. Officials said today that he probably would be operated on Thursday or Friday.

As the Arkansas' condition is good, physicians and the senator are unworried as to the possible outcome.

Sen. Duncan Cuts His Ties As Socialist

Milwaukee—(P)—State Senator Thomas M. Duncan, Milwaukee, who recently became executive secretary to Gov. Philip F. LaFollette, is no longer a member of the Socialist party, a statement given out today by the executive board of the Socialist party of Milwaukee said.

The statement was signed by William Coleman, county secretary.

"At a regular meeting of the executive board of the Socialist party of Milwaukee held Tuesday evening, July 14th, at which meeting Sheriff A. B. Benson, Mayor Daniel W. Hoan and Senator Thomas M. Duncan were present, the matter of Senator Duncan's acceptance of an appointment from a Republican governor was thoroughly discussed, and it was unanimously agreed that this was inconsistent with continued membership in the Socialist party. Accordingly Senator Duncan offered his resignation from the Socialist party and the resignation was unanimously accepted."

Duncan for many years has been prominent in the Socialist party. He was a confidant of the late Victor L. Berger, a leader in the party who represented a Milwaukee district in congress for many years. Duncan also served as secretary to Mayor Hoan before he became a state senator.

Announcement by Governor LaFollette that he had tendered the executive secretaryship to Senator Duncan came as a surprise in the waning days of the last legislative session. The senator accepted the post and assumed his duties shortly after the legislature adjourned, June 27.

Asked for a statement today, Senator Duncan declared he had nothing to say. Mr. Coleman likewise was non-committal. It was understood, however, that Mayor Hoan, defended the senator's acceptance of the secretaryship.

At the time of Senator Duncan's acceptance some political observers professed to see an alignment of the Progressive-Republican faction with Socialists in the state.

STAY OF EXECUTION GRANTED BROTHERS

Chicago—(P)—The commitment of Leo V. Brothers of St. Louis to the state penitentiary at Joliet to serve a 15-year term for the slaying of Alfred J. Lingia, Chicago crime reporter, was held up today by a writ of superadeas issued by Chief Justice Frederic R. DeLoe of the Illinois Supreme court.

The stay of execution was granted in connection with an appeal of the case to the supreme court. Pending the outcome of the appeal, Brothers will remain in the Cook-co jail.

RUDY VALLEE'S MOTHER IS CALLED BY DEATH

Westbrook—(P)—Mrs. Charles A. Vallee, mother of Rudy Vallee died today at her home here. Members of the family, including the radio crooner and his brother William, who flew here from New York, were with her at the end. Mrs. Vallee was 51 years old.

Vallee left his wife of a week, the former Fay Webb, in New York when he made his hurried trip to his old home. The mother had been ill for a year.

In addition to her husband and two sons, survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Lunnerville.

PLAN NON-STOP OCEAN FLIGHT TO BUDAPEST

Two Aviators Leave Newfoundland After Weather Becomes Favorable

Harbor Grace, N. F.—(P)—George Endres and Alexander Magyar, reserve officers in the Hungarian army, took off in their plane, "Justice to Hungary," from the airport at 1:48 p. m. Newfoundland time (10:28 a. m. Appleton time) on a projected non-stop flight to Budapest.

Early this morning the two fliers decided to postpone the flight until later, owing to reports of unfavorable weather conditions, but during the forenoon more promising conditions were reported and they decided to hop off, as they had originally planned.

Dr. James H. Kimball, weather bureau meteorologist in New York, had been keeping them informed of conditions over the great circle route which they planned to traverse in their flight above the Atlantic. He notified them they would have favorable winds, but that there were low clouds over most of the Atlantic.

The plane had been refueled and inspected yesterday and this morning there remained only a final check up before the machine was ready to take the air.

TO REPAIR AIRPLANE

Mexico City—(P)—Edward Maloney and Seth Yerrington, who failed in an attempted non-stop flight from New York to Mexico City, today flew to the beach where their plane was damaged in a forced landing on Monday. They hope to repair it and fly to Brownsville, Texas, tonight. The airmen were brought here by plane from Tampico yesterday.

New York—(P)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty arrived at 11 o'clock this morning at the municipal airport in their world girdling plane Winnie Mae. They flew non-stop from Indianapolis. The world fliers came here to decide on the itinerary of a national tour due to begin within the next few days.

St. Louis—(P)—Miss Laura Ingalls, little New York aviatrix, who is contemplating a solo flight across the Atlantic, took off today from Lambert-St. Louis field at 6:25 a. m. (C. S. T.) today for New York.

TREASURY OFFICIAL BELIEVED SUICIDE

Body of R. G. Hand, Commissioner of Accounts, Found in Garage

Washington—(P)—Robert G. Hand, commissioner of accounts and deposits of the treasury department, was found dead in his closed garage early today with the motor of his automobile running. The body was discovered by a Negro employee shortly after daybreak. He had been treated for a nervous disorder and members of the family said he had threatened to take his life by monoxide gas, from the motor of his car.

Hand had been commissioner of accounts and deposits since 1929 and had been connected with the treasury department for 28 years. He kept the accounts of the incoming and outgoing money and directed the deposit of receipts and disbursement of government moneys through various branches and federal reserve banks.

His estimates as to the income of the government and its expenditures were accepted by the treasury as the base upon which it made its plans for the future.

During the last year Hand had remained close to his desk as the direct representative of the secretary and undersecretary. His figures on condition of the treasury were on their desks every day.

PASTOR PREACHES 58 HOURS TO SET RECORD

Cotton Valley, La.—(P)—Rev. E. A. Sandifer, 48-year-old pastor of the Cotton Valley Baptist church, today had a record of preaching continuously for 58 hours.

Mr. Sandifer started his discourse at 1 a. m. o'clock Sunday. He passed now and then to partake of raw eggs, chocolate, and coffee and once to change his shirt. He was quite hoarse when he concluded at 6 o'clock p. m. yesterday.

With an audience that ranged from 50 in the early morning hours to nearly 1,000 in the evening, Mr. Sandifer devoted his discourse to the books of Paul, the status of the church, and modern conditions in relation to the coming of the millennium. When he finished he said he "felt fine."

State Again Swelters In Grip Of Heat

Steadily rising temperatures were reported from all sections of Wisconsin today as scattered showers failed to break the season's second heat wave.

Although indications pointed to a repetition of the late June heat period, Frank H. Coleman, Milwaukee meteorologist, predicted cooler weather would arrive in 36 hours. The weatherman based his prediction on anticipated showers tomorrow and an expected shift in the wind from southwest to northwest by tonight.

Prostrations of two workmen, Frank Part, Kohler, and Edward Burns, Green Bay, employed as a smoke-stack painter at La Crosse, were recorded yesterday as a recurrence of warm weather became apparent. Both victims were expected to recover.

Early morning showers in the vicinity of Fond du Lac, Oshkosh and Appleton brought no relief. Rain also fell last night at Janesville and Superior. Clear skies over the state gave little promise of further rainfall.

Cities throughout the central and southern part of the state reported noon temperatures well beyond the 90 mark. Superior, meanwhile, was enjoying a cool breeze off Lake Superior which held the mercury at noon to 82.

STANTON BODYGUARD SLAIN IN CHICAGO

Edgar A. Smith Shot to Death—Body Found in Automobile

Chicago—(P)—Edgar A. Smith, bodyguard of Danny Stanton and one of Al Capone's henchmen, was found shot to death in an automobile on the south side today.

Police received a report last night that a man riding in an automobile with two companions had been shot. An all night search resulted in the discovery of Smith's body slumped in the front seat of a parked automobile.

Smith and Stanton both had been ordered extradited to Wisconsin to be tried for the murder last August of Jack Zuta, vice lord. For months, however, they have resisted the Wisconsin authorities with habeas corpus proceedings and their case is now before the supreme court.

His execution in the usual gangland "ride" removed Smith from the picture but Stanton still faces prosecution for the shooting of Zuta in a Delafield, Wis., resort.

The police began a search today for the two companions seen with Smith in a south side saloon last night.

There was a tentative theory that a woman was linked with the killing. Beside his body lay an envelope addressed to "Edgar" from "Virginia," and on the reverse was a penciled note.

CHINESE CAPTURE CITY FROM COMMUNISTS

Nanking, China—(P)—Chiang Kai-Shek, provisional president of the Chinese republic who is directing operations against Chinese Communists who have occupied Canton, telegraphed today from the front that the government armies had broken through the Communist right wing to capture Kwang Oh-Tung. He said the reds were in disorderly retreat toward the south.

Clarence Bueke, 28, and Ray Appert, 27, both of Milwaukee, charged with the robbery, pointed out the hiding places of the warriors and other lost yesterday to Sheriff John Anderson, Howard Young, 23, of Rochester, is the third defendant.

Boileau For Special Term To Force Dry Law Change

Wausau—(P)—A special session of congress to consider modification of the national prohibition law was advocated today by Congressman Gerald J. Boileau, Wausau, in a telegram sent to President Hoover. The message read:

"The depression has reached such proportions that some firm action must be taken. As a representative in congress I feel it my duty to request congress be convened in special session for the purpose of having the prohibition laws modified to legalize the manufacture, sale, and transportation of good beer as a relief measure.

"Such legislation would have a tremendous effect upon economic conditions of our country and would give employment to a vast army of men, both directly and indirectly.

SAVINGS BANKS FAVOR FREIGHT RATE INCREASE

Insurance Companies Also Add Weight to Drive of Railroads

Washington—(P)—Insurance companies and savings banks today added their weight to the drive of the railroads for a 15 per cent rate increase.

Edward D. Duffield told the Interstate Commerce commission the interests of 50,000 life insurance policy holders and nearly 13,000,000 savings bank depositors were threatened by the decrease in railroad revenues. He urged that the increase be granted. Duffield is president of the Prudential Life Insurance company of America and chairman of an emergency committee on railroad investments of life insurance companies and savings banks.

Duffield appeared in the opening session of the hearings set by the commission to determine whether the increase should be granted. Earlier Dr. Julius H. Parmelee, a director of the bureau of railway economics, had told the commission that despite the most rigorous economy the railroads had been unable to make a fair living in the last ten years.

The insurance man said that if the credit of the railroads could not be conserved the insurance companies and savings banks would have to refuse to lend further money to them. He said the two now have combined holdings of $4,700,000,000 of railroad bonds.

At the opening of the hearing, the railroads amended their petition to exclude coal and coke from the increase.

SPANISH ASSEMBLY HAS FIRST MEETING

Madrid—(P)—For the first time in more than five decades Spain was in control of a popular government today, laboring to transform itself from a monarchy to a republic.

The newly elected national assembly held its first meeting last night in the midst of colorful ceremonies and will convene again this evening to draft parliamentary regulations defining its own powers.

Provisional President Alcalá Zamora, representative of the people since Alfonso XIII went into exile, made an address in which he said the cabinet now wished to resign its authority to "Spain's only majesty—the constituent assembly."

"Our way is beset with many thorny problems," he said, "and the solution of these must be taken up by the assembly. Our promise to hold them unsolved and to let the assembly decide served as a bulwark for the new republic."

RETURN LOOT STOLEN FROM POSTMISTRESS

Racine—(P)—While three young men awaited hearing today on charges of robbery with fire arms, $18,500 in securities, stamps, cash and checks was being returned to its rightful place. The loot was taken from Mrs. Roberta Winkler, assistant postmistress at Rochester, Wis., Saturday night.

Clarence Bueke, 28, and Ray Appert, 27, both of Milwaukee, charged with the robbery, pointed out the hiding places of the warriors and other lost yesterday to Sheriff John Anderson, Howard Young, 23, of Rochester, is the third defendant.

Rio de Janeiro—(P)—The plane DO-X, which has been in development here since the end of her transatlantic flight, will start a lever trip to New York at the end of next week. Paul Barnes will be in command, and the American, Clarence Schickler, pilot will be one of the pilots.

NESHKORO MAN SENT TO PRISON FOR ARSON

Fond du Lac—(P)—Henry Kuntz, 45, reputedly a wealthy labor leader at Neshkoro, Wis., in pre-arranged, was sentenced yesterday by Circuit Judge C. E. Van Dine to from one to two years in state prison at Waupun for arson. Kuntz was charged with having started two fires to compel minor debts from soft drink parlors.

CATHEDRAL BURNS

Sofia, Bulgaria—(P)—The Catholic cathedral at Plovdiv was virtually destroyed by fire today. The damage was estimated at $200,000.

Crime Board Hits Method Of Procedure At Famous Trial Of Mooney, Billings

Washington—(P)—The Wickersham commission today denounced as "shocking to one's sense of justice" the laws under which the famous Mooney-Billings case was conducted.

Embedded deep in a formal report to President Hoover on methods of criminal procedure, the commission cited the case arising from the 1916 Preparedness day bombing in San Francisco as one in which motions for a new trial "were held inadequate to prevent injustice."

It made no direct recommendation, however, that the case be reopened. In the body of its report, signed by 10 of the 11 members, the commission concluded that blame should be laid at the door of "Incompetent, weak or politics-driven judges" for much of the general complaint against this country's criminal procedure.

It presented a plea that the public insist upon the complete divorce of the administration of justice from politics and that the selection of judges and magistrates be made upon the ground of conspicuous fitness alone.

Monte Lemann, New Orleans lawyer, who declined to sign the commission's prohibition report, likewise refused to sign this document. He charges the report was made without sufficient research to back up conclusions reached, adding that "without adequate factual inquiry, generalization" by the commission seem to be likely to serve no useful purpose.

In its comparatively brief discussion of the murder sentences given Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings, for the San Francisco bombing, the commission cited the refusal of the California Supreme court to grant a new trial despite the discovery of new "evidence charging

Five Bandits Hold Up Bank In Minnesota

Staples, Minn.—(P)—Five bandits who took advantage of payday for railway shymen looted the First National bank of between $15,000 and $20,000 here today.

Ten persons, including a policeman in the bank as a customer, were forced to lie on the floor. The gunmen took money from counter drawers and forced an officer to open the vault.

Four men entered singly and stationed themselves in various parts of the bank. One shouted and all drew guns. There was no shooting and the four fled in a car driven by a fifth man.

The bank had an unusual amount of money on hand because of payroll demands today in the community of 3,500 persons. Officers said the raiders apparently knew this.

Investigators sought to determine whether the raiders had any connection with the $21,000 daylight holdup of a Yankton, S. D., bank Friday.

It was the second Minnesota bank holdup in two days, the cashier was shot as a bandit took $653 at White Bear Lake yesterday.

Before entering the bank the robbers terrorized ten men outside with two machine guns. The weapons were left in the car and handed by the driver as his companions went into the bank.

INSURANCE FIRMS AT STATE INQUIRY Over Score of Companies Heard Regarding $500,000 Fire at Beloit

Madison—(P)—More than a score of fire insurance companies were represented at a hearing before the state insurance commissioner here today relative to the $500,000 Beloit fire of Dec. 5, 1930.

The companies were ordered by Commissioner Harry Mortensen to show cause why policies held by Beloit residents should not be paid. H. O. Wolfe, Milwaukee, represented the companies at the hearing.

An explosion preceded the fire and the insurance companies contend that they cannot be held for all of the damage. Their counsel pointed out that none of the damaged buildings carried explosion insurance.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by a leaky illuminating gas main owned by the Wisconsin Power and Light Co. Attorney Wolfe informed Commissioner Mortensen that his clients were of the opinion that the commissioner has no jurisdiction in the matter but that they were willing to appear out of courtesy.

Two Possibilities Emphasized for Pacification of Europe

BANKS MEET PAYROLLS

Institutions to Reopen in Order to Make Mid-month Payments

President von Hindenburg is back in Berlin to take a hand in straightening out the nation's financial tangle and the cabinet, by emergency maneuvers, is believed to have turned loose enough cash so that the banks may be opened to meet the mid-month payroll.

Secretary Henry L. Simson and Arthur Henderson, the British foreign secretary, are in Paris, presumably discussing Germany's situation, among other things, with the French government.

London, watching developments with anxiety, is preparing for the meeting of Young plan experts on Friday at which that plan will be dovetailed with the Hoover moratorium scheme.

Washington has been advised that Great Britain, France and Italy, under the Hoover plan, do not expect German reparations payments due today.

Paris—(P)—Premier Laval today announced today that a conference would take place at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the ministry of the interior, the conferees including Secretary of State Simson, Foreign Secretary Henderson of Great Britain, the premier, Foreign Minister Briand, and Finance Minister Llandin. The conference of six will include the American ambassador, Walter E. Edge.

Berlin—(P)—President von Hindenburg, who remained at his country place in Neudeck all through the maneuvers of the past two weeks came back to the capital today to take a hand in lifting Germany out of its financial crisis.

Shortly after he arrived it was learned on excellent authority that the banks temporarily closed yesterday by government decree, will be opened tomorrow to meet the mid-month payroll.

Even the Darmstaedter und National bank, which suspended payments at the beginning of the week, will be opened for pay day.

In the meantime the cabinet, debating ways of meeting the situation without inflating the currency, definitely discarded a plan to put the domestic "rentenmark" back into circulation.

So far as the situation at home is concerned, outside of the financial problem, the government is not worried.

The danger of a Communist assault is not considered as existent, although government agents are everywhere to report even the slightest sign of trouble. The suggestion of a general strike inspired by the Communists is laughed at.

Two Possibilities

Two possibilities of transcending importance for the pacification of Europe loomed on the political horizon today.

One was that on a signal from Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, who is in Paris, Chancellor Brüning might depart hurriedly for Paris for a heart-to-heart talk with Premier Laval and possibly even for a four-cornered conference between Secretary Simson, Laval, Henderson and himself.

The other was that Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and Chancellor Brüning might start from Berlin immediately after their conference in an attempt to bring about a Franco-German understanding which was considered indispensable for restoring peace in Europe.

The chancellor absolutely meant it when in his radio address of June 23, he pleaded for a Franco-German rapprochement and he is more than willing to meet Premier Laval on every reasonable basis," a spokesman said.

"Such a meeting, however, must not be a humiliation for him—it must be a meeting of equals. I do not think this meeting likely before Prime Minister MacDonald and Secretary Henderson visit us, but in these days no forecast can be made. Mr. Henderson's visit to Paris may develop a situation whereby Chancellor Brüning will feel it his duty to depart from Germany."

Paris Changes View

German official circles believed they see an inclination in Paris to forget about political conditions regarding credits, and rather to welcome a conference of peers with no advance string attached. The Wilhelmstrasse has let Paris, as well as other important capitals, such as London and Washington, know that the present government can fully command the situation provided nothing is done to undermine its present unqualified authority.

New Mexico Penitentiary Prepares To Receive Albert B. Fall

TERM TO START AFTER WARDEN GETS PAPERS

Former Secretary to Serve in Prison Which He Once Helped Supervise

El Paso, Tex., (AP)—His long fight to escape prison ended, Albert B. Fall, aged and in ill health, today faced a trip from the mansion he built here 25 years ago to a penitentiary at Santa Fe, New Mexico.

While his wife and daughters hovered about, attending to his minutest needs, he sat in pajamas in a big arm chair awaiting the hour of departure to serve the prison sentence resulting from his conviction on a charge of accepting a bribe as secretary of the interior.

He received calmly and with a flash of humor the news that his sentence of a year and a day, by a ruling of Attorney General Mitchell, would be served in the city where he began the career that carried him to a post in the cabinet of President Harding.

Fall said he did not know when he would leave for Santa Fe, but he was in no sense despondent. He said he even wished he was physically able to do all the things expected of a prisoner.

"Yes, gentlemen, I have many friends in Santa Fe," he said as he smoked the stump of a cigar. "But I hope I won't find them in the penitentiary."

"It is a relief to have it all settled," he said. "Certainly the strain has been heavy."

Mrs. Fall and her daughters, Mrs. C. C. Chase and Mrs. Jovett Elliott, alternated between indignation at what they asserted to be the injustice of the courts in which Fall was convicted of accepting a bribe from E. L. Doherty in leasing of the Elk Hills Naval Oil reserve and expressions of hope that in prison he would find peace.

"It is no disgrace for him to be imprisoned," Mrs. Fall said. "He has done nothing wrong. His name will be cleared in history."

Mrs. Chase asserted that the affidavits incriminating the William Beaumont hospital army physicians report will show the injustice and unfairness we have been up against."

Fall examined by the army hospital here several weeks ago on request of the government. The report said he was suffering from chronic tuberculosis, chronic pleurisy and inflammation of the arteries.

At the United States marshal's office opinion was expressed that commitment papers would be sent Warden Ed Swope at the New Mexico penitentiary and he would notify Fall to come to Santa Fe.

BUILT IN 1884
Santa Fe, N. M.—(AP)—The New Mexico penitentiary awaits its most noteworthy prisoner since the grim walls were erected in the territorial days of 1884.

He is Albert Bacon Fall, whose political days prior to his term as secretary of the interior department often were occupied with active consideration of the problems of this institution, which will now enact from him a year and a day penalty for bribery—or four months with time off for good behavior.

A grey stone administration unit is flanked by two long grey stone cell houses, to each side of which and to the rear, range thirty-foot turreted walls forming a huge rectangle.

This prison, located on the outskirts of Santa Fe at the foot of the Sangre de Cristo mountain range and built to accommodate 350 convicts, now houses more than 500 men and women.

Fall, because of his ill health, probably will be confined to a ward in the new hospital, completed a little more than a year ago by convict labor. It is a well lighted, well ventilated two-story brick building equipped with modern surgical and dental facilities and has an especially constructed unit for tubercular prisoners.

The prison brick plant gives employment to most of the convicts, approximately 60 per cent of whom are Spanish-Americans.

The prison physician and surgeon, Dr. Eugene W. Hesse of Santa Fe, who calls three times a week on patients in need of medical care, will have charge of Fall's case.

In the event the Fall family so desires, other doctors will be admitted to make examinations or administer treatment. Special foods are served prisoners who wish to pay for such service.

Fall in his early days, contributed to the building of the prison as a member of the territorial house of representatives, three times as territorial senator, as associate justice of the territorial supreme court, and twice as territorial attorney general of New Mexico.

MAJ. GEN. PARKER IN INSPECTION OF CAMP

Camp Douglas—(AP)—The Wisconsin National Guard camp was in readiness today for an inspection by Major General Frank Parker, Sixth Corps area commander, and his staff.

General Parker arrived last night and with Adjutant General Ralph M. Jimmell, camp commander, greeted Major General Charles King, retired, the oldest officer in point of service in the U. S. army. General King, slightly despite his 63 years of military service, is billeted with the officers and carries through the strict regimen of army life.

Preparations are being made for Governor's day, Sunday, when Governor LaFollette, his brother, U. S. Senator Robert M. LaFollette, and other citizens will visit the camp.

SCIENTISTS HONOR DR. EDWIN FROST

Quiet Celebration Is Held at Home of Yerkes Observatory Chief

Williams Bay, Wis.—(AP)—The blind savant of Lake Geneva was back today at his endless task of digesting the affairs of the universe. Just another day it seemed for Dr. Edwin Frost, since 1905 director of the University of Chicago's Yerkes observatory—but a day which followed one of the happiest of his life.

The simple celebration took place on the rustic lawn of his home overlooking the lake, within the shadow of the observatory's tall dome.

It was the first real birthday celebration of his life. The gathering of his friends was augmented by the arrival of congratulatory messages from lay and scientific friends in all parts of the world.

For 45 years the slightest astronomer has dealt in stars. He has fixed their radial velocity, interpreted their motion and action, determined their physical constitution, and taught their lore to sage and student alike. He gained international recognition as editor of the Astrophysical Journal.

Out of the long observation of the gigantic universe and its many galaxies he was fabricated a rather unusual philosophy.

"I have learned much in my life," he said, "and everything has confirmed my belief in a spirit behind the universe."

"The universe is perpetual—it had no beginning, and it will have no end."

"Great progress and many discoveries in astronomy have resulted in chaos that resembles the pre-Newtonian period. But some great physicist like Newton will appear and simplify our discoveries and find that this magnificent world has not come by chance."

DOWN TOWN GOLFERS WIN PUTT TOURNAMENT

Tom Thumb golfers from the course at Superior and Franklin streets putted out a win over the Carey Barbecue course team in a 36 hole tournament at the downtown course last night. A fairly large crowd watched the contest.

Melzer with scores of 56 and 50 for a total of 106, was the best scorer. Kimball and Loose tied for second with 109 each.

Tonight the employees of the Peabody-Peabody Co. will be guests at the downtown Tom Thumb course.

Electrification Planned For Soviet Agriculture

(Copyright, 1931, By Associated Press)

Moscow—(AP)—Agriculture, like industry, will look to electrification for success under the projected five-year plan which Soviet Russia will put into effect in 1932.

Already one of the keystones of the current five-year plan, particularly in industry, electric power will form the basis for one of the most sweeping changes foreseen for agriculture in the new campaign of government.

The goal is that not less than half the number of state and collective farms in the Soviet Union will receive their power requirements from electro-energy sources.

"We shall utilize such vast amounts of electro-energy in agriculture as no other country in the world," said a member of the collegium of the people's commissariat of agriculture.

Although details of the chief principles of the new five-year plan will not be reported until Aug. 15, a sufficiently broad outline of Soviet agricultural ambitions has been discussed to indicate hopes of the government that the strides already

National Guard Settles Down To Camp Life Again

BY CPL. GORDON R. MCINTIRE

Camp Williams, Camp Douglas, Wis.—Once more some 61 men from Appleton and their two officers plus a couple of mascots are spending 15 days here at the annual field camp of instruction. It's army life again, and whether the boys like it depends on when you happen to ask them.

After a heavy meal with visions of an afternoon of ease and contentment the boys all like the life; after an afternoon such as they put in Monday this army life is the bunk. The particular grievance today is the fact the boys worked hard all morning in the heat and then ate a big meal only to be rushed out less than five minutes after it was finished, hiked about three miles in the sun and dust and then forced to sit through several discussions on gas that the fellows didn't give a whoop about.

There was one interesting thing about the whole thing, however, because a new gun designed for use by gas troops was fired about 10 times and it proved real interesting. The weapon is an improvement on the old trench mortar and fires a 25 pound shell, seven pounds of which is gas chemicals. The ones fired today contained smoke chemicals. The interesting thing is that the shell, although fired at a range of 1,800 yards can be followed in the air until after it starts its descent. The afternoon's drill was supposed to feature a smoke screen laid down by an airplane. Something went wrong and the boys aren't so keen for the air service.

MUSIC HELPS MUCH

But the boys shouldn't kick much. Just now there are about 20 of them out in front my tent loading ammunition belts for work on the 1,000 inch range tomorrow. They're working mighty hard but there's a radio about four yards from me that is entertaining them and when there's plenty of music around the boys just naturally don't mind the work.

What will some of the old timers say when they read this—I'll bet they shake their heads and comment

MORE INDUSTRIAL CASES HEARD HERE

Testimony Is Taken by Examiner at Hearing at City Hall

Four cases were heard by the examiner for the Wisconsin Industrial commission at city hall Wednesday morning.

In the case of John McCann, 321 S. Cherry street versus the Riverside Paper corporation, the claimant asks damage for the loss of four fingers on his right hand on Oct. 15, 1930. His hand became caught in the bottom of a calendar roll.

Glendon Sykes Day of Black Creek is seeking compensation from Outagamie-co for a fractured leg received on Dec. 16, 1930 when he was struck by a passing automobile as he was leaving work.

The hearing in the case of John Ameljih, 603 S. Locust-st, against the Wisconsin Drawn Steel company revealed that Ameljih broke his left leg when he jumped from a box car into which he had been loading fence braces on Jan. 17, 1931.

George Newcomb, Neenah, asks compensation for stone bruises on the face and legs received on Sept. 25, 1930, when he was working for the Quarry Products company of Menasha. While drilling holes in a bomb shelter of an old hole that contained dynamite, which exploded.

The two cases heard Tuesday afternoon were those of Christian Jacobson, Neenah, against the Neenah Paper Company, and Herman Wyro, Kaukauna, against the C. R. Meyer and Sons Company, Oshkosh. Jacobson fractured his right foot in a fall while putting a load of sulphate at the Neenah Paper Company, July 6, 1930, and Wyro developed an infection in his foot from a scratch received on April 9, 1931 while loading structural steel on a truck.

EQUALIZATION GROUP MEETS NEXT FRIDAY

A meeting of the equalization committee will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the courthouse to go over preliminary details of its annual report with Leo J. Toomey, assessor of incomes. Louis F. Nichols, Ellington, is the committee chairman.

made in this direction will be dwarfed by the contemplated new development.

Not only the construction of a wide network of power stations in such manner as to satisfy the needs of a large portion of the agrarian area is involved but also an important increase in the number of mechanized tractor stations, which, according to the new plan, will become centers of vast communal farming enterprises.

Wider use of chemical fertilizers, more irrigation projects, especially in the large central Asian territory, and improvement of natural and artificial grazing lands are other factors expected to figure in the new campaign.

Mention also has been made of projected changes in the cultivation of wheat, designed to harmonize with cattle-raising, but what these modifications may be has not been made public. Another phase to receive particular attention will be the dairy industry.

The new program for agriculture now is the subject of exhaustive studies by a commission of 50 scientists and agriculturists appointed by the commissariat of agriculture.

QUIT WORRYING ABOUT RUSSIA, ADVICE TO U. S.

Engineer Says Soviet Cannot Be Successful Competitor for Years

Cleveland—(AP)—The rest of the world was advised today by R. E. Baker, secretary and treasurer of Arthur G. McKee and Co., Cleveland engineers, to quit worrying about Russia as an international competitor in manufactured goods.

Russia's own vast boundaries, coupled with inadequate transportation, will keep her busy with her own needs for many years, according to Baker, whose company designed and is supervising the construction of a steel plant at Magnitogorsk which the Soviet government hopes to make the largest in the world.

Distances are great and transportation is poor in Russia," Baker said. "I am convinced that it will be many years before Russia can take care of her own primary needs and that if the government attempted to ignore those needs it would cost them so much to get their own manufactured goods to their borders that they would be beaten in competition before they started."

"When you realize that this great steel plant at Magnitogorsk, with a steel capacity of 2,100,000 tons of open hearth and Bessemer steel per year, could put that whole capacity into steel rails for the whole life of the plant without producing enough to give Russia a competent transportation system, you quit worrying about Russia being any menace to even her industrial neighbors in middle Europe, to say nothing of the rest of the world."

Economically neither Magnitogorsk nor Kuznetsk, another plant in Siberia of about half the size of Magnitogorsk, hold any actual or potential threat for the iron and steel industries of Europe, much less the United States, Baker believed.

Baker said his firm has designed and built, in whole or part, some of the principal iron and steel plants of India and China "and neither of the Russian plants mentioned is ever likely to compete successfully in either of those countries."

"In recent years iron from India has been profitably sold in central Pennsylvania and Cincinnati, and Chinese iron can probably determine the market price on the Pacific coast at even today's prices," Baker continued. "The Magnitogorsk and Kuznetsk plants can be worn out

Almost forgot to pay the usual tribute to the mascots. They are Howard Ratzman who is putting in his fourth year down here, Karl Kobal getting in his second, Jackie Semith and Don Green who are first year men and therefore rookies.

The softball season got underway Monday night with Co. D, beating headquarters 2nd battalion by a score something like 25 and 1. The boys lost count about the sixth frame.

Sunday night the non-coms and privates engaged in a mortal game but it ended in a tie, 1 all in the nine innings. The tie will be played off at a later date—some afternoon when the privates led by Johnny Baust get too talkative and the non-coms decide to take them on and give them a wallop.

Sunday's governor's day again and that means visitors. Therefore the men and officers of the company are taking this way of extending the invitation to come over and see us for a day.

FAT MAN FAILS TO QUALIFY IN ROLE OF CHICAGO HOLDUP MAN

Chicago—(AP)—Before Edward Swanson can hope to enjoy much success as a holdup man he will have to reduce, the police say.

Yesterday, Edward, who is 67 years old and weighs in the neighborhood of 310 pounds, was accused by police of trying his hand at a holdup, but his experience seemed to bear out the old expression about nobody loving a fat man.

Amid the hue and cry that arose following the holdup of two places of business, Policemen Michael Mulvihill and George Weber, themselves heavyweights, started in pursuit of three men, one of whom they said was Swanson.

At an intersection Swanson leaped onto a laundry truck, driven by Mussi Surveito. He pushed a pistol into Surveito's ribs, but Surveito started to laugh.

"Get off," he shouted. "You're so fat you're funny." With which remark he pushed Swanson into the street. Then he disappeared into a building on the third floor of which the policemen found him sprawled in a chair, sans shoes and shirt. Seemingly he was a tenant taking a sun bath. The policemen were not sure he was the man they had been

Sportsman Praises Phil For Vetoing Fishing Bill

CLARIN

Governor LaFollette has vetoed Mr. Mauthe's pet resident fishing license bill. When the proposed bill first came before the people many were in favor of it who later opposed it strongly. Why did they change their minds and later oppose this bill? Why, simply because they had their eyes opened to its sinister motives. Had everyone really understood what the bill called for there would not have been a single person in favor of it, Isaac Walton members, or otherwise. I refer principally to the third provision. This provided that, as well as for the "propagation of game fish," the funds to be raised by the resident fishing license law were to be used at the discretion of the Conservation Commission for buying waste lands for public shooting and fishing grounds. There was no assurance as to the amount that would be expended for this worthless idea, only that the bill provided that 20 per cent of all moneys so raised must be at once set aside in a trust fund for the purpose of buying waste lands as explained. No one had any idea of how much would be used in propagation of fish. That was enough to cause the bill to be killed, and that was the chief reason why I fought it from the very start. There is no tolerance for guesswork in conservation matters, nor for subterfuges. The conservation commission is no doubt much peeved over the governor's action, but not so the people who understand matters. I firmly believe that had the bill carried only the provision that all funds so raised must be used for the propagation of game fish it would never have been vetoed. It should be a lesson for those in charge of our valuable wild life welfare. When they came out above board with the right kind of a resident fishing license bill I believe it will be passed. As the State Journal of Madison says: "We believe that if ever such a measure was ill-timed it was under present conditions. Never before in the history of the state have there been so many people fishing for the table as at present. To ask that these people pay from their slender pocket books even a 50-cent license fee is imposing a burden they can ill afford."

That, however, was not my reason for fighting the bill, though we must all agree that it would have imposed an unjust burden at this time. Many of you no doubt, as I did, listened Sunday to a man down east who said in a speech over the radio that the only way to propagate trout was to let them hatch as nature intended them to. This man is supposed to be an authority, yet we do not exactly agree with him. Brook trout can be kept confined until their eggs are ripe before stripping, which insured a far better hatch than can be had in stripping the immature eggs from wall-eyes and other fish. For that reason, we think trout hatcheries are beneficial.

Keller Pleads For Serious Thought On Unemployment Situation

WORSE WINTER FACING CITY. HE PREDICTS

Employment Is Solution to Problem, He Tells Rotary Club

Describing present conditions as a social, moral and political problem as well as an economic problem, Gustave Keller, Sr., chairman of the local committee on unemployment, relief, pleaded for serious thought on the unemployment situation in an address at Rotary club at Hotel Northern Tuesday noon.

He predicted a more serious drain on relief coffers during the coming winter, and warned his audience that when a man has no food in his stomach he may forget his moral responsibilities. While the world does not owe a man a living, he said, it does owe him the opportunity to earn an honest living. Advocating employment as a better solution to the situation than the distribution of relief funds, Mr. Keller pointed out that the majority of men prefer working to accepting charity.

He gave statistics showing how much had been doled out to indigents during the first six months of this year. The Home Aid has spent between $10,000 and $20,000, and the city $21,957. Although the city's budget for poor relief for 1931 is $15,000, it is estimated that at least $65,000 will be spent before the next January.

In addition to this the $20,000 spent by the Home Aid, it is probable that at least $35,000 will be spent this year succoring the poor and unemployed.

January High Month
The total expended for indigents in January was $4,756, in February, $4,581, in March $4,391, in April, $2,944, in May $2,462, and in June, $2,762. Families aided during the peak month of June, 1931, were 151, and for the city, 168.

In June 60 families were helped by the Home Aid, and 93 by the city.

"Where is the money for this winter coming from," the speaker questioned. "From the city?" From popular subscription?"

Mr. Keller explained the work of the local committee on unemployment, which was divided into four sub-committees.

A survey under the auspices of the committee on public and private construction, of which H. A. Schlitz is chairman, revealed that Appleton is not overbuilt. The committee encouraged building and discussed business costs and seasonal building. Figures presented by Mr. Keller showed that building in 1931 totaled $619,586, compared to $851,092 in 1929. The 1929 figures include the Zuehlke building, valued at $324,679, and the 1931 total included the new postoffice, valued at $224,570, and the Institute of Paper Chemistry building, valued at $193,417. In 1925 the total of building permits was $324,000, in 1927, $133,000, in 1928, $159,000, in 1929, $771,900, in 1930, $651,000, and in 1931, $619,000. The total of all buildings in the city from 1926 to July, 1931, was $7,353,733, and the aggregate value of all residences built in the city during the same period, $3,882,293. Residences built in 1925 totaled 187, in 1927, 190, in 1928, 155, in 1929, 123, in 1930, 48, and in 1931, 51, three more than last year.

Register 350 Jobs
The committee on the regularization of employment in manufacturing, commercial and public utilities acted as an advisory committee to the business heads of the city, and the committee on employment offices, head by C. K. Boyer established the municipal employment office under the direction of the poor commissioner. Since Oct. 1930, 350 unemployed persons have registered with the bureau.

The committee on unemployment relief, of which A. F. Klefstad is the chairman, organized city officials into a welfare council. Every month the mayor, chief of police, health officer, city physician, street commissioner, poor commissioner, city nurse, urgent officer and chairman of the poor committee met to confer on common welfare problems, in an effort to provide employment for the unemployed. The committee has been cut off because of lack of funds, and of the large amount paid out by relief societies for rent, so families would not be turned out of doors.

Mr. Keller spoke of the problem of stabilizing employment, the regularization of business by the regularization of employment, and of the little effect which decreased exports have on conditions in America. He told of conditions in the city where gas and electricity have been cut off because of lack of funds, and of the large amount paid out by relief societies for rent, so families would not be turned out of doors.

SIGMAN ADDRESSES SEYMOUR KIWANIANS

An address on "The Changing World and Changing Attitudes" was given by Samuel Sigman, Appleton, at the weekly dinner of the Seymour Kiwanis club at Seymour Tuesday evening. Mr. Sigman stressed the need for interdependence of all lines of industry, commerce and agriculture in meeting present day economic problems.

He pointed out that the old theory that "my business is none of your business" has been wiped out by the depression, and that instead, cooperation in the many industrial, commercial and agricultural fields are ready to admit that "my business is your business, and we must help each other in bettering conditions."

COMMITTEE MEETS
The committee of the Kiwanis club met at the Conway hotel Tuesday evening. Plans for the Kiwanis convention to be held here in August were discussed.

SOL LEVITAN TO BE SPEAKER AT GROCER OUTING

Expect Big Delegation of Wholesalers, Retailers at High Cliff

Solomon Levitan, state treasurer, will be the principal speaker at the fifteenth annual intercity stag outing of wholesale merchants and retail grocers from Appleton, Kimberly, Little Chute, Kaukauna, Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Waupaca, New London, Shawano and Clintonville Thursday at High Cliff park. Mr. Levitan will discuss present day economic problems.

Wholesale merchants and grocers from the various cities will assemble at 8:15 Thursday morning on the Lincoln school grounds where the 120th Field Artillery band, under the direction of E. F. Mumm, will play a short concert until 9 o'clock. The Mattern Brothers Concertina band also will entertain during that time. Both musical organizations will accompany the grocers on the picnic.

Stop at Sherwood
Enroute the contingency will stop in Sherwood for about 10 minutes while the artillery band plays several selections. At 10:30 a seven inning baseball game will be played by four retailers' teams. The winning aggregation will class with the wholesalers' nine in the afternoon.

Dinner is to be served at 12 o'clock under the direction of Gustave Tescher and George Prumowski. After dinner Mr. Levitan will give his address. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon an 1899 model car will be awarded to the winner of the horseshoe pitching contest. Shooting afterwards the aged machinery will be run off the cliff for the entertainment of spectators.

Other athletic events in the afternoon program will include tug-of-war, running races, and jumping contests. Supper is to be served at 6 o'clock, cafeteria style. Emil Gerdes, Oshkosh, is in charge of the evening spread. The group will return by way of Kaukauna where moving pictures of last year's outing will be shown. Fireworks also will be displayed at Kaukauna.

COOLER WEATHER ON MENU FOR THURSDAY

Relief from the torrid blast which held Appleton and vicinity in its grip Wednesday will probably come with showers tonight or Thursday, according to predictions of the weatherman for the next 24 hours.

This vicinity sweltered again Wednesday as the mercury skyrocketed to 88 degrees above zero. Early this morning the mercury started its climb from 54 degrees above. At 6 o'clock it registered 56 degrees above zero.

Hot winds were blowing from the south and southeast this morning, a fair indication that wet weather is in the offing. They are due to shift to the north or northeast within the next 12 hours. For a few minutes between 7:30 and 8 o'clock this morning, Appleton residents thought it was going to cool off when a light shower prevailed. The rain was short lived, however, and the streets were dry shortly afterward when the hot sun started beating down on the pavements.

U. S. Expert Advises How To Take Care Of Lawns

Washington—Grass planted in the early spring has had ample time to come up. But, in some cases, this grass has grown to a height of four or five inches only to die and wither away to nothing.

There are several causes for this condition which can still be remedied to save the lawn.

According to F. L. Mulford, horticultural expert of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, lawns fail because of soil conditions, too much shade or improper watering.

"If there is a partial stand of grass on the lawn, even though the ground is not more than one-fourth covered, the best plan is to seed freely about twice a year and apply suitable fertilizers at frequent intervals," is Mulford's advice.

"When the soil is composed partially of clay or has a clay subsoil, Kentucky blue grass and red-top would be suitable to use in equal quantities by weight. If in shade add as much red fescue as either of the other grasses.

"If, however, the soil is largely sand, redtop, red fescue and, if obtainable, creeping bent or Rhode Island bent should be used in equal parts.

Time For Kentucky Blue

"Kentucky blue grass seems to do better in an alkaline soil which can be assured by applying lime or unleached wood ashes at the rate of five to 10 pounds per 100 square feet.

"Clipping of the grass has a lot to do with its success. If clipped too low it may be damaged, and if

JACK DIAMOND IS CLEARED IN ASSAULT CASE

Jury Accepts Gangster's Alibi—Other Charges to Be Prosecuted

Troy, N. Y.—(AP)—Jack Diamond, who has "beaten the rap" many times on charges from pretty crime to murder, stood freed once again today, victor over the entire legal forces of New York state in a determined effort to end his gangster career with a prison term.

Arrested many times, and twice cut down by enemy gunfire, the former bodyguard of the slain gambler Arnold Rothstein again showed his luck had not deserted him.

He was acquitted of an assault charge last night by a jury which heard the story of Grover Parks, Catekill mountain truckman, in a two-day trial. Parks said he was beaten and tortured by fire by Diamond and his gang April 15 because he did not reveal the location of a mountain still, after being overtaken with a load of cider on a lonely road.

The jury accepted Diamond's alibi that he was in Albany at the time rather than the stories of Parks and James Duncan. The latter was with Parks at the time of the alleged assault.

There are other indictments against Diamond growing out of the Parks' episode. The court clipped $10,000 from the total bail of nearly $50,000 under which Legs was at liberty pending trial.

The indictments were returned after Governor Roosevelt ordered an investigation of racketeering in the Catskills where Diamond went from New York city.

PROBLEMS DEBATED BY CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

San Francisco—(AP)—The problem of youth dominated subjects on today's program of the golden jubilee convention of International Christian Endeavor societies here today. Subjects relating to guidance of young people provided discussions for a score of groups.

The chief executive will deliver a message of greeting which will be broadcast over an NBC hookup beginning at 11:15 a. m. P. S. T.

PARSONAGE PLANS TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEET

The contractor, who is to construct the new parsonage for Mount Olive Lutheran church will be announced at the quarterly meeting of the congregation in the church parlors at 7:30 Thursday evening. Voting members of the congregation are expected to attend.

The group also will discuss the disposition of the McCormick residence which now stands on the site of the church, on which the new parsonage will be constructed. Bids for the house will be announced.

Now Is Best Time Of Year To Repair Faulty Roofs

Washington—Thunder storms this time of the year severely test the waterproof qualities of any roof, and the heavy pounding of summer rains reveals many a leak that has heretofore been unnoticed. Generally if the leak is found in time it can be fixed by the dweller.

Sleet, scorching sunshine and alternate freezing and thawing all contribute to the wear and tear of the roof. In some localities gases and chemicals hasten the decay of the roofing material. In any event, it is important that a leak be repaired without delay. If neglected, it results in rotting woodwork and falling plaster.

In repairing a roof, according to directions given by Vincent E. Phelan of the U. S. Bureau of Standards, never attempt working on the sloping surface without depending on at least a strong rope for support. Tension shoes insure a safer footing on the pitched roof and avoid possible damage to the surface.

A ladder, shaped so it will hook over the ridge of the roof, should be used.

Choose a bright day to locate the holes in the roof. Sun, shining through holes, will reveal them more readily than on a dark day. By shoving a wire or straw through the hole from inside the attic it can easily be located from above.

In a shingle roof leaks may be repaired by inserting a new shingle, roofing roll or tarred felt, or a piece of tin under the shingles to cover the hole.

Roofing compounds are on the market to be applied with a brush. These are excellent repair agents. Leaks in a composition-shingle roof can be stopped in the same manner as those in a wood-shingle roof. A metal roof can be repaired by dropping some solder over the hole after the edges have been cleaned with a cleaning compound. For slate and tile, however, it is not advisable for an inexperienced person to attempt repairs. An expert should be called.

Gutters and downspouts need frequent inspection. Their good conditions prevent water from backing up, falling with force on the ground below and digging holes in the earth. This heavy fall of water often finds its way through basement walls.

SPAIN PONDERSEPARATION OFCHURCH, STATE

Plans for Disestablishment Are Placed Before Law Makers

BY CLARENCE DU BOSE
Madrid (AP)—The separation of church and state, as proposed in the new constitution prepared for the national assembly would terminate a relationship which has existed virtually since the Moors were driven back to Africa.
The religious question has been a vexing problem during the tenure of the provisional republican administration and promises to continue a subject for governmental concern.
Many Spanish Catholics believe, and their spokesmen and newspapers have asserted, that the republic's policies have been unfair to the church and have smacked of persecution. The provisional president, Niceto Alcalá Zamora, himself a Catholic; Alejandro Leroux, minister of foreign affairs, and Miguel Maura, minister of the interior, have denied this. They say that the republic's program calls only for equality among all religions.
Most Spaniards are Catholics. And yet Spain, since the overthrow of Alfonso XIII on April 11, has seen mobs attack and destroy Catholic churches and convents; has seen the cardinal primate of Spain, two bishops, and several priests deported; has heard demands from communists and some other left groups that the Jesuits be expelled, religious houses closed and church property confiscated.

Spain, under the republic, has known decrees establishing religious liberty, abolishing compulsory religious instruction in schools (it can still be given when parents request), ending compulsory attendance at religious services in the army and forbidding public officials from participating ex-officio in religious services.
Some Catholics say these decrees and the expulsion of Cardinal Segura violate the concordat between the Vatican and Spain and for practical purposes amount to a separation of church and state already—although lacking, technically, the actual decree or enactment specifically ordering separation.
If the assembly orders separation the Spanish government will save more than 65,000,000 pesetas, or about $6,600,000, the approximate annual budget heretofore paid by the government toward the support of the church as the official state religion. The last government budget for the church was 66,273,495 pesetas, of which 54,500,000 was for salaries and maintenance fees to church officials and priests.
The church burnings in May, the religious decrees and the deportation of Cardinal Segura brought diplomatic notes from Vatican City. As far as the public knows the situation between the church and the republic is still unsettled. The government considered that Cardinal Segura had indulged in political expressions unfavorable to the republic but this has been disputed by church authorities.
There have been various times in the past when relations have been strained between the Spanish government and the Holy See—usually a somewhat similar charge being involved; that of alleged political activity by some church dignitaries or Catholic bodies.
There are always two sides to such questions, but the fact remains that there has developed in Spain a considerable opinion that the church has had too much influence in politics.

SEMPSEY AGAIN IS CHIEF OF REGENTS
Reelected Chief of Normal Schools Group at Madison Meeting
Madison (AP)—Edward J. Dempsey, Oshkosh, was reelected president of the state board of normal school regents here Tuesday.
He has served as president for 17 years and said he will not be a candidate for reelection after his term expires. O. E. Gray, Platteville, and E. C. Douda, Madison, were reelected vice-president and secretary, respectively.
The board adopted a resolution which is considered to be an attempt at retrenchment in view of the limited budgets in all state departments. The resolution states that no classes of less than 10 students shall be permitted at state teachers colleges unless approval is given by the education committee of the board.
The resolution also forbids the creation of new courses of study without approval by the board of regents and orders the presidents of the nine state teachers' colleges to meet in conference to devise means by which small classes may be eliminated, particularly those not related to the education of teachers. The presidents will also study plans by which some courses may be alternated in odd or even numbered years.
A special committee which is studying plans for alteration of the gymnasium at the Milwaukee State Teachers' college was ordered continued by the board. The board also requested the Superior regent to submit a plan for a library at the Superior school at next board meeting.

POLICE DISCIPLINE

Police Officer Earl VandeBogart has gone back to walking a beat as a patrolman, after 15 years as a desk sergeant, as punishment for intoxication, for sleeping while on duty and for conduct unbecoming an officer. He was found guilty of these charges following a hearing Monday evening and his punishment followed immediately.

It was argued in defense of the erring officer that because 75 per cent of the populace drinks liquor at times a police officer cannot be expected to be more perfect than the people who pay him. It was a weak argument at best. No question of morals was involved in the charge; it was merely a matter of whether the police officer, by drinking, had violated a rule of the police department. So far as the commission was concerned, it didn't matter if everyone drinks; police rules prohibit this practice for policemen and every member of the force is familiar with the rule.

While it is to be regretted that punitive action is necessary, yet it is bound to have a salutary effect upon the discipline of the police force. The taxpayers have a right to expect that their police officers hold themselves constantly in readiness for duty, and they will have little sympathy with lax discipline that permits abuses of the nature revealed by the hearing. Property owners will insist upon the same efficiency and conduct from their public servants that they demand from their own employees.

STALIN AND CAPITALISM

Fundamental Marxian theories of socialism are receiving a rude jolt in Russia. The new policies for industry recently announced by Dictator Stalin evince a sure transition to state capitalism. Wages no longer are to be equal, but will be adjusted according to the skill of the workman.

The third year of the Five Year Plan finds Russian industry in a chaotic state and its finances more difficult to balance as the national reserves on which the Bolsheviks have lived so long are coming to an end.

The human element is forcing a radical change in the communistic theories as to the division of labor and its rewards. Drafting labor into certain lines of employment and fixing hours and wages have failed to attain the goals set. Unskilled workers, paid the same as skilled men, had no incentive to improve their qualifications. Skilled workers, dissatisfied, moved from place to place, seeking better living conditions. Individual reward commensurate to effort was lacking, resulting in production far below schedules, with no interest in quality of goods produced. The Soviet dictator finds that training, experience, and ability are necessary and that they must be given consideration.

He seems to have at last discovered that calling a workman a physician will be of no aid to the sick and appointing the janitor as president of a college will not qualify him to teach Latin or geometry.

For several months all the points now brought forth have been discussed by the press and members of the communist party, but without action. Now that the dictator has spoken things begin to move. The dominating will and genius of Stalin control. Underlying it all is the human passion for power which has no hesitancy in reverting to capitalistic principles to attain the ends sought. Trotsky, Zinoviev, Kameney and other idealists have been ruthlessly crushed under foot in opposing any departure from theoretical principles of socialism.

Lenin, to save his dictatorship, did not hesitate to abrogate the communistic principles and resorted to free trade and exchange. Stalin is attempting again to ward off the looming spectre of failure by resorting to the easing of labor laws and reaccepting the doctrines of capitalism. Any port in a storm to save the soviet ship. But some day the ports will give out.

LATIN AMERICA NEEDS RELIEF

Latin America is unlucky in that the anxieties and needs of Europe have absorbed the attention of the financial world to such an extent that any assistance for the southern republics has received but passing notice, except from those directly interested.

Lack of general interest in South and Central America is not because we do not have plenty at stake in those countries. Outside of Cuba, we have (according to the Department of Commerce) $2,500,000,000 of investments in industrial, transportation and agricultural enterprises. Two-thirds of this amount is in South America, the balance in Mexico and Central America. There is an additional one billion of American money invested in their government and municipal obligations.

The need of these southern countries for financial assistance is immediate. In general their prosperity is dependent upon the production of raw materials for food and industry. Basic products consist of minerals, meat and hides, grain, fruit and oil. Their international accounts have been balanced by the export of these commodities, but the drop in commodity price-levels has made it impossible for them to do so.

Many persons have the opinion that our southern neighbors are a temperamental and explosive lot of people, addicted to revolution and default. But any unrest is more in the nature of strenuous politics rather than of the revolutionary characteristics so disturbing in many other parts of the world.

There is no evidence of any desire to default in financial obligations and the truth is, that in the present depression, the southern republics have shown themselves far more dependable than many other governments, considering the strain to which they have been subjected.

The return of prosperity to South and Central America is necessary to world stability and the resumption of world progress. Until commodity prices, many of which are now below the cost of production, improve, they will need help. As the United States government is not itself a creditor any measure of relief must be initiated by private banking interests. President and treasury officials, however, recognize the necessity for immediate action, and the Federal Reserve bank is now participating in plans to relieve the situation.

THE MILITARY PROPHET

General Ludendorff keeps up his high blood pressure. He continues the leader of the associated grouches and grumblers-of the world.

Hardly a month passes that he does not predict an immediate and stupendous conflict, the earth strewn with mangled bodies and the air alight with artillery flashes and heavy with poisonous gases.

A short time ago he prophesied that this summer would witness the unleashing of the dogs of carnage. Summer is always a nice time for war and for the heat that goes to many heads.

But when summer appeared without any war the general declared that he was too smart for a certain combination of Jews, Catholics and Freemasons. They, he claims, are at the bottom of this conspiracy with Beelzebub. That is a very new and odd trinity, but, be assured the general wouldn't think of charging conspiracy if he didn't know.

When our President proposed the international moratorium to assist Germany he pulled no wool over Ludendorff's eyes. "Herr Hoover, president of the United States, that is political representative of an enormous portion of the Jewish-Jesuit-Freemason capital, appears suddenly on the scene with fine phrases and offers to Germany," says Ludendorff. But, he continues, the President's purpose was to ally Germany with us in the next war. Well, if so, Herr Hoover has a long head and besides Germany will be lucky for it will be on the winning side.

One might have thought the Catholic church had enough on its hands with Mussolini and the Jews with the Arabs in Palestine but these must be mere skirmishes on the side to distract attention.

Anyway we are safe until next spring for that is the time Ludendorff has now set for the Four Horsemen to gallop madly about sounding the dread tocsin of war.

Let us therefore live while yet we may.

GERMANY is having what you might call just a heluva time . . . she's having to declare moratoriums for her banks so they won't have to pay out the seventy five cents they have left . . . these are dark days for Germany and all that and it'll be quite a while before she pulls out of the various jams she's in . . . but she still doesn't have to worry about the Sunday driver . . . about Prohibition . . . and now that Max Schmeling's back home . . . well, cheer up . . .

If you have wondered just why France has been a bit hesitant about helping Germany out of the hole, just dig out your history books and go back to the early 1900's and 1912 and 1914 and a few places in between. Over here we can forget about a war in a few years and help our former enemies out of their troubles. But when you've been fighting with the neighbors for centuries and centuries and not getting along worth a darn in the meantime, that, Tillic, is something else again.

A baby who swallowed a safety pin had a picture of his tummy taken and was released from the hospital. We hope that he's released from the pin, pretty soon, too.

Chicago is making its policemen put on long pants and some of the people are kicking. "Only in the small towns do the cops wear long pants," they say.

And in the small towns, the cops occasionally arrest somebody, too.

They carried another news story of Rudy Vallee the other day. But it wasn't quite like the others they've been carrying. It may quiet the razzing which the crooner's been getting lately. It was: "VALLEE FLIES TO BEDSIDE OF HIS DYING MOTHER."

After all the financial furor which has been shaking things around lately, we were simply paralyzed at the idea of looking for the standing of Amalgamated Gadgets on the market page. But all they'd lost was the eighth of a point they gained a few weeks ago. Maybe they can't read German.

And try to get the average American excited about world affairs just now. With the golf and baseball season on? Not a chance, not a chance.

Didja know that for three years the British Who's Who carried the name of a prominent Baron, gave his pastimes and hobbies and such but never mentioned his address?

Well, no wonder. The British are tactful. The baron's three year address was Parkhurst Prison on the Isle of Wight, whence the baron went for swindlings.

People haven't forgotten the heat wave yet. Every time it gets warm enough to take off one's coat, one observes signs of worry everywhere.

ONE ARGUMENT FOR THE NEW BALL

When'er I'd miss a four-foot putt
Or shank a mashie shot,
I blamed myself last summer, but
This summer I do not.
For when my shots desert the line
And into bunkers fall,
I know the blunder isn't mine—
The fault is in the ball.

Last year I shot some fearful rounds
But all that I could say
When drives of mine went out of bounds
Was: "This is not my day."
For scores that kept on mounting high
I'd no excuse at all,
But now I have an alibi.
I blame the larger ball.

The old ball may have had a slight
The new ball seems to lack,
But 'tis my golfing prayer at night
That I'll never bring it back.
For as I dub my way along
From springtime unto fall,
It's nice when things are going wrong
To blame it on the ball.

I could not bring myself to blame
The caddy for my sin,
Nor give excuses old and lame
Because I'd failed to win.
But this year when I badly play,
As I my score recall,
It seems to soothe my soul to say:
"The trouble's with the ball."

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

Wednesday, July 13, 1921

Official replies from Japan and Italy to President Harding's invitation to a disarmament conference were still lacking that day.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith had gone to Hill City, Minn., to spend two weeks at their cottage there.

Miss Gertrude Estey and Olin A. Mead, Appleton, were married the previous Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. J. Laird, Black Creek.

Mrs. Susan Simpson, 333 Harrison-st., had announced the marriage of her daughter, Leona, to Earl Hamann, Shiocton, which took place at Menominee, Mich., July 4.

Dr. H. E. Elsworth, city health officer, was to leave the following day for northern lakes on his annual vacation.

A daughter was born the previous Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Demerath, 1352 Second-st.

Word had been received that morning from Gustave Keiler, who was among the Appleton delegates in attendance at the state convention of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin at Marshfield, to the effect that Appleton had secured the convention for 1918.

All grocers of the city were holding their annual outing on the yacht "Pawnee" on Lake Winnebago that afternoon.

Mrs. L. L. Lohm was visiting friends and relatives at Green Bay that day.

Mrs. Limer Johnson left that morning on a two months' visit with friends and relatives at Chicago.

A LITTLE SHEAR ADVICE!

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

WAS EDISON RIGHT?

There is a familiar tradition that Thomas Edison for years had only four hours of sleep each day. Thirty years ago Edison did assert in an interview that four or five hours of sleep is enough for any one in good health. He believed that more sleep than that was unnecessary and positively injurious. He has tried this idea out among his employees and he had found it generally successful. Discount this about 55 per cent for natural desire of employees to please the boss.

A New Jersey correspondent asks me why I insist that most persons require not less than eight hours sleep. He and his wife were so much impressed by Edison's argument that they both tried it out, some 25 years ago. At first they didn't like it so well, but after a month or so they got used to it, as Edison had told them and ever since they have averaged only 4 or 5 hours sleep daily. Both are well and feel rather better than they did when they wasted eight of 10 hours in bed. Now at the age of 61 my New Jersey friend likes to lie in bed as long as he can sleep, but he still regards the eight-hour rule as superstition to which we doctors cling for no particular reason.

Now that you put it in that way, I dunno. Always heretofore I have assumed that we had plenty of scientific evidence to support the dictum that a man must have eight hours sleep. But when I begin scrambling around to find the evidence it isn't to be found.

Maybe there is something in this crazy notion of Edison's after all. I've often thought there might be, when I've had to listen to the plaintive song of the bird who suffers with insomnia. Then here one night recently, owing to an uncomfortable shoulder due to injury, I couldn't find a comfortable position to sleep and I—well, in the morning I asserted quite solemnly that I never had a wink of sleep all night, but I'd hate to take oath to that. Probably I had several hours of fitful dozes, which are just as good, if not so pleasant, as a long slumber. But to hear me tell it next morning . . .

Another observation that makes me think Edison's idea is not so bad, is that, so far as I can judge, I am quite as well and as efficient when I spend only six hours in bed as I am when I snooze nine or 10 hours. But remember, I'm Old Doc Brady. I do not recommend any skimping on the hay time for youngsters.

Sedentary persons, those who live by their wits, parasites, work dogs, bus boys, loafers, bridge bugs, white collar folk, executives, teachers, lawyers and the like, require less hay time than honest working people, golfers, bikers, hunters, fishermen, cops, burglars and housekeepers. The functioning of the brain or other part of the nervous system uses little or no energy and necessitates little or no repair or recuperation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Castor Oiling Warts

Have noticed on several occasions your opinions on the use of alcoholic beverages. About you taking a risk of losing your head? One of your readers told about removing warts with castor oil. I tried it on a wart on my back that had been growing larger for over a year and the darned thing peeled off in a week. (W. A. T.)

Answer—I lose my head every now and then anyway, so what the heck—thanks for the testimonial for castor oil. I begin to suspect that you may have some use in the world after all. Other victims of warts who seek information please know that I am merely passing on the suggestion sent in by numerous readers—that if you get a rub a little castor oil on each wart once a day the wart will come away in a week or two.

Frying an Bathing
Some one sent your clipping to Dr. . . . and he read it over to me, about baths, you say bathing is not necessary if people change of . . . and then some time ago you wrote that white bread is all right. But now almost every one talks about whole wheat and I don't think I bother any more about the hand.

The Fascists probably think that their salute gives them the upper hand.

papers as I only have arguments with everybody. . . . (Mrs. A.)

Answer—Well, Ma'am, I still argue that fried food is quite as wholesome and digestible as food cooked any other way, that the frequency of clean changes rather than the frequency of bathing determines personal cleanliness and that white bread is perfectly healthful for all who prefer it, tho it might not be sufficient if one were restricted to a diet of bread alone. At most everybody, not of restricted diet, has plenty of the nutriment required from other foods besides bread anyway.

Needless Warning
On the label of a package of iodized salt I find a warning, that people using iodized salt should not use any other iodine compounds except under medical directions. Would it not be well to warn your readers about the use of your iodine ration. . . . (H. D. T.)

Answer—I do not think the warning is necessary. There is no reason to imagine that the addition of my iodine ration to the mere trace of iodine in iodized salt can ever be too much for anybody.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE beach was like a blanket white with sand that seemed to glisten bright and scintillate. "Let's rent swim suits and load here all day long," I wish there was a hotel near 'cause I would like to stay right here for several days. At night I'm sure the sun won't be so strong."

The Travel Man said, "That appeals to me. I must admit it feels real good to stretch out on the wave-washed sand and simply rest. I think that building over there is some resort and it looks fair. You all wait here. I'll rent some rooms and get your very best."

He soon came back and cried, "All set! And now come on and we will get into some comfy bathing suits. I've met the bathroom man. He has a suit for everyone and shortly we'll be having fun." The Tynmites were tickled. To the bathroom they all ran.

The suits were just as they could be. Said Scout, "This one just fits me." The others, too, looked very nice. They scampered to the sand. Then, dressed in suit and bathing hat, the Travel Man said, "My, I'm fat! You Tynmites go ahead and swim. I think I'll stay on land."

Just then we Carry cried, "Hurrah! We're sure to have real fun today. Here comes a pretty maiden with a donkey by her side. I think the donkey is a pet and he is very tame. I'll bet. If we don't try to scare it, she may let us have a ride. And sure enough, the maid came near and to the Tynmites, said, 'Come here! I'm going to let you have a ride. You all can ride at once. Hop on and you'll be safe and sound. I won't let him get frisky and pull any crazy stunts.'"

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Big John McDuffie, democratic whip of the house, hasn't a reputation around Washington for loquacity—that is, publicly.

He seldom speaks on the floor of the house. He prefers to work in the cloakroom or in committee, and to talk things over in little private conferences with colleagues here and there about the capitol.

But before the Alabamian who is Jack Garner's right hand man embarked on the Levathan the other day for a trip to Europe, he had a lot to say about many things.

He hit the papers first with his charge that Heflin of Alabama, because of his election contest, was aiding a plot which had for its purpose assurance that the republicans would retain control of the senate in the 72nd congress.

Then he came out with the observation that Hoover's trip to Indiana was indicative of the President's "acute apprehension as to the outcome of the 1932 campaign."

Business and Pleasure

And just before his ship sailed from New York, he was in the news again when he told reporters that democratic presidential chances for success in 1932 "look excellent," and that "Roosevelt, so far, looks like the favorite."

Not bad for a man who has a reputation for not talking much for the public.

McDuffie, one of the most popular members of the house, is going to Europe for business and pleasure. He is No. 2 democrat on the rivers and harbors committee and he intends to study developments abroad in this field.

Big, good-natured and obliging, McDuffie is well liked among all factions of the house. His numerous friends are almost as numerous as those of his own party.

The late "Nick" Longworth and he were staunch friends.

There's quite a famous foursome "on the hill" composed of McDuffie, Rep. John C. Calhoun, Senator Jones of Washington, and Col. Ed Haisey, secretary to the democrats in the senate. They josh each other hard on the links—McDuffie the most adept at kidding.

On the eve of his departure for Europe, McDuffie discovered suddenly that he had left his walking stick in Alabama. And when his secretary slipped out and bought him a handsome stick out of his own pocket, McDuffie strutted around with it as happy as a child with a toy.

Prominently displayed in his office is a picture of a white-haired old Alabama negro preacher, once a slave in the McDuffie family. No one visits him without hearing the story of this old negro and McDuffie's tribute:

"He's the wisest old codger I have ever known."

NATIONAL GUARD CALLED

On July 13, 1917, an important step to increase the strength of the army was made when a third of the national guard regiments not already in service was called into federal service.

The calling of the national guard into service was done in three increments. The other two things being called to be ready were July 27 and August 5.

It was stated at this time that after preliminary training the national guard would soon be sent to France and that some regiments would leave the United States as early as November.

At the date of mobilization the national guard had reached a strength of about 250,000 men, and as the war strength had been fixed at 400,000, recruiting continued. It was the intention of the War Department that if the full quota was not secured before the draft began, the vacancies in the national guard, as in the regular army, would be filled by conscripted men.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York — Impromptu mobs, quickly formed, are frequent neighborhood terrors.

These angry crowds usually spring up in tenement blocks after an accident or an arrest.

A child darts out of a doorway, into the path of a screeching truck. Before the driver can pick up the limp form, all the mothers within hearing and sight of the accident descend upon him, intent upon a community vengeance.

Police reserves have to be called out to rescue the unhappy truckman and disperse the angry neighbors and the wailing family.

Cop Fighters

Cop fighters are another source of trouble. Raids on sidewalks, rap games or neighborhood joints are signals for looting hoodlums to band against the arresting officer.

Often the policemen are badly beaten in the melee before their clattering clubs, rapped on the pavements, and their whistles bring reinforcements.

It has long been thus. A trick of the old Tenderloin gangs was to pelt passing policemen with stones and bottles from the rooftops, largely as a taunting sport. Whenever a policeman made an arrest, another cop would have to trail him a respectable distance behind to prevent a rescue if the arresting officer suddenly was felled by a brick from the tenement parapets.

The present day fights flame with a sudden fury and are quickly over. Revenge for an insult is a frequent cause for a free-for-all, especially in the hot-blooded quarters of Lower Manhattan. Corner loafers annoy a girl. She tells her father and brothers. Immediately they round up kinsmen and neighbors and confront the offenders.

Soon the block is a frenzy of 50 embattled men, a tangle of flying fists and flashing knives. Housewives from their windows supply a comedy effect by dashing buckets of water, garbage and assorted missiles into the crowd.

The figure fades out with the clearing of departing ambulances and black maras.

Casualty

I once was the innocent bystander, or rather the fleeing victim, of such an uproar.

The ex-husband of a prominent movie beauty was strolling with her through a tenement section. He was telling a tale of woe that so preoccupied him that he forgot to watch his steps.

Suddenly he bumped the small daughter of a villainous looking, but probably respectable, fruit vender. Her family, scattered about the fruit stalls, gathered together into what appeared to be a formidable clan, hurling imprecations and juicy vegetables at our flying forms. I remembered the darky soldier's admonition to zig-zag, but even so a soft orange burst with a wet thud behind my left ear, running a new shirt and a fine morning.

"Matrimony," says Peggy Hopkins Joyce, "is a serious business. A business which she will agree, sometimes pays handsome dividends."

Now that a new chewing gum with gin flavor has been introduced, what is an innkeeper to use to take his breath away?

FREIGHT RATE INCREASE HAS BANK SUPPORT

Plea Based on Plane of Necessity and Public Good

BY CARLTON A. SHIVELY
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—Life insurance companies, savings banks and trust companies have joined the railroads themselves in a plea for higher freight rates and have filed briefs with the interstate commerce commission. The essence of the banking support for higher rates is much the same as the international debt suspension and credit support now being given Germany.

It is based less on the economics of the situation than on the broader plane of necessity and public good. The banks, in other words, while not attempting to argue that business should in all conscience be required to pay more for the services rendered to it by the railroads, hold that it would be calamitous if the $5,000,000,000 in railroad bonds held by them should have to be dumped on the market.

The insurance companies and the banks are not open to the accusation that they have made poor investment choices. They have bought only such railroad bonds as qualify under the state laws governing securities legal for insurance, trust company and savings bank investment.

These regulations in New York state are stringent. Principally they are that a road must earn its fixed charges one and one-half times during five of the six preceding years, including the one next preceding, and pay dividends on its stock capital equipment to one-fourth of its fixed charges in five out of six years.

As a whole the railroads in 1930 earned fixed charges only 1.76 times and on the basis of the first five months of this year they will cover 1.27 times. It is estimated that 20 of the 67 largest roads will not earn full interest charges this year and 22 will earn them less than 2 1/2 times. At the beginning of next year, the earnings results will call for the striking from the legal list in New York of the bonds of 21 of the 35 roads now qualifying, unless a radical improvement in earnings takes place.

Should this happen, the holders would be obliged to sell, and naturally buyers would be hard to find for securities which the banks could not hold. At all events the mere threat of so enormous a volume of securities coming on the market gives pause to serious minded people. It would not alone work hardship on the holders of the bonds, but railroad ability to borrow French capital would be dangerously crippled for a long time to come.

Another serious phase of the position is the weakness that has developed in all railroad bonds. Banks holding these investments, and most of them do, cannot carry them along hoping for better times, as do in-

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

Approach—Not Drive
Of all the various Bridge diseases the most destructive is perhaps the "mump Complex" in Opening bids. This disease is especially prevalent with advanced players, for beginners still conserve the natural freshness of their subconscious "card sense," which many advanced players lose after wading through a half dozen text books.

Any beginner knows that his Opening bid is a leap in the dark and that the location of honor cards as well as distribution of low cards in the remaining hands is still unknown. What is more natural than to start out slowly by feeling one's way in the dark and to throw out a network of Approach suit bids of one until the positions of the enemy and ally are known? No good general would choose a definite line of attack or defense without reconnoitering his territory.

Wrong Emphasis
In fact even advanced players give too much weight to the scoring value of bids and not enough to their distributional aspect. Cheapness recommends itself and they blindly strive to gain a trick in the bid of a notrump at the price of losing two or more tricks by failing to fit in distributions for a favorable trump bid.

The logical place for notrump is toward the end of the bidding, not at the beginning. The reason is that notrump crowds the bidding too quickly and eliminates many valuable suit bids, while a suit bid leaves the alternative of notrump without increasing the contract. Hence the Approach Principle which requires that when holding any biddable suit (be it even a four-card minor) one should start with a suit regardless of the strength of the hand.

A switch to notrump is always available but only after exhausting all possibilities in suit bids. In Golf one drives first and then putts. In Bridge there are no "drivers," except shut-out game overbids, but there are a series of Approach shots and putts.

With this hand only beginners and a handful of super-experts will dividuals. They must write down their paper losses as they go, and in many cases this means disappearance of surplus and even impairment of capital. Should there be any wholesale dropping of railroad bonds from the legal list, it is likely that the consequent decline in prices would cause such drastic write-downs of bank capital that many bank closings would be forced. In the next four years the rail-make the correct natural bid. The situation is further aggravated through the fact that so many suffer from the "Four Ace Complex," a disease which is not fatal only because the combination of four Aces in a single hand is relatively rare.

In South's position a sanguine player will open the bidding with a dashing two notrumps, in which case North should rise the bid to three notrump. Result—down one trick. West opens heart 5. South, after winning the heart lead, is eventually forced to make a losing finesse against the spade King which will give to West four heart tricks and one spade trick. A more advanced group of players will modestly open with one notrump, and North will then pass. In either case the notrump disastrously shuts out the game bid in spades. Experts will bid "one (not two) spades." North will raise to "two spades." South now bids "three notrump" to indicate a very strong hand and at the same time a possible four-card spade suit. North's distribution is more favorable to spades than notrump. Hence "Four spades" by him. A game is laid down against any defense.

In Some Cases
In certain situations (Opening suit two-bids and Jump Responses) an approach suit bid becomes forcing, that is, both partners are barred from passing until the game is reached. South's hand in the example given is not strong enough for a forcing two-bid. If North's hand is blank the loss will be severe; if he has anything at all he should not pass even after a "one spade" bid. Two bids are superfluous with any but very powerful hands. To have a justifiable two-bid, South needs say, a heart King in lieu of heart 8 which will give him the required 1/2 honor-tricks in three suits.

With proper use of Approach—Forcing methods Contract cases to be a crude affair of "quick tricks" but reaches much deeper into the real structure of cards and acquires a strategic character in which the factor of "mass organizations" (Distributional values) is on a par with the factor of "leadership" (honors). TINY ANIMAL ORGANISMS HELP REDUCE POLLUTION

Washington—(AP)—Tiny animal or vegetable organisms serve as "scavengers" in impure water as buzzards act as scavengers on land. The organisms are known as

"plankton." Their presence in water is a sign the water is polluted. Plankton disappear when the water is purified, says the United States Public Health Service.

Vegetable plankton destroy bacteria by a "gas attack" of oxygen. Animal plankton attack bacteria by actually feeding on them or on the by-products of the bacteria that poison the water.

Watch Drinking Water, Picnickers Are Advised

Madison — (AP) — Picnickers should not trust to luck in selecting drinking water. While Wisconsin has made tests of hundreds of wells and water supplies which will be used by tourists during the summer, the Educational Committee of the State Medical Society in a bulletin today declares that the old adage that running water purifies itself is a fallacy.

"Wisconsin has brought the typhoid rate down by warning people to be careful about their water supply," declares the bulletin. "There need not be a single death in Wisconsin from typhoid if people would listen to this warning."

"Many persons have an idea that water from any running stream in the country is pure and fit to drink if clear and cold because 'running water purifies itself.' There is a grain of truth in that old saying, but like some other traditions, there is a pound of falsity there also."

"If a running brook crosses a farm yard or pasture, it flows near a highway it is bound to pick up human or animal pollution, which, taken into the human system may cause disease. True it is, that certain factors begin at once to render the water less dangerous but what chance has it of becoming fit to drink? Let us see."

"First of all, solid material tends to settle, but the heavier particles first, but the amount of sediment depends on the rate of flow; the faster the stream the less settling. Thus solid material may be carried along

Belgians Hail Queen As Her 55th Birthday Nears

Brussels — (AP) — Elizabeth, Queen of the Belgians, will be 55 years old on July 25.

Her birthday celebration will be purely a family affair, in the strictest intimacy, but that will not prevent the nation from taking part in its own way, for she is "Mother of the Belgians."

She was hardly known to the world outside Belgium. She made history the day she said:

"A curtain of steel has been lowered between my former country, which is Bavaria by birth, and myself."

A trained nurse since the days she assisted her father, Duke Charles-Theodore, the oculist, the queen turned the royal castle of Laeken into a war hospital where she personally dressed the wounds of the first war victims from Liege. She remained a Red Cross worker throughout the greater part of the war.

In those days she was called

After the ceremony, a reception will be held at the home of the bride's mother for about 40 guests. The couple will leave on a wedding trip and on their return will make their home at 816 W. Harris-st.

Because of her scientific training, Queen Elizabeth's scientific topics does not alarm her. Queen Elizabeth despite her frail constitution, is a modern woman. Born in the shadow of the Bavarian Alps, she has a natural liking for winter sports. She is also a good golfer and tennis player. She never forgets that smart dressing is part of a queen's job and follows modern fashions as closely as her rank permits. But she never had her hair bobbed.

to be able to do something he likes to do once in a while."

What is useful? Often I wonder as I see children walking through the corridors of the school building studying lists of dates, lists of names, battles, cities, words, what good the learning will do them. Some children will never be able to get anything worth while out of high school, and for them college would be a useless idea. Their work lies in the activities of industry. They will buy and sell, build, push and pull and carry; work machines, lay bricks, do the thousand and one useful things that must be done. Just what subjects in the school are useful to them? The selected group of specialists—musicians, artists, actors, those whose highly qualified people, whose in education is useful to them?

For all children there is a common education. They all need to know how to read. Reading is more than calling the words. It is the ability to gather ideas from printed words. All children ought to read as well as it is possible for them to read. This is highly important, and extremely useful. They need some number work, the simplest forms of arithmetic. They need a

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE aisles of the church seemed to stretch away into dim, cool forests, Sue thought. Enchanted lanes, rather holy lanes, that went on and on and on. The organist had been practicing and now she let her fingers glide across the keys, find old songs here and there, and send them quivering and shining into the silence, only to catch them back again. A picture of the Shipyard with the lost sheep set in a stained glass window, smiled down.

Sue felt Jean stir a little restlessly. She wondered if the beauty of it all—beauty that was rather strange, for the church was old and there was a cloud of dust some place where a janitor had been sweeping—was affecting him, too.

Then the minister had started his "Dearly beloved, we are gathered here," and the ceremony went on.

"God has ordained that a man shall leave his father and his mother and cleave unto his wife." The words sounded deep, rhythmic, vibrant. They shut the world away, and left two people alone together. Apart in an Eden, and Sue felt the quick tears gathering in her eyes. But the minister was going on.

"Theodore, do you promise to take this woman as your lawful and wedded companion through life, in sickness and in health, in fortune and in adversity, and forsaking all others to cleave unto her and her only, till death do you part?"

"I do." The answer was strong and clear. And then Sarah was answering the question and while the minister talked on, Sue wondered how soon it would be until she would hear Jack's voice, whimsical and tender, very, very serious, though, answering the age-old question.

The rest of the ceremony was just a blur to her. For some unexplained reason her eyes had clouded with tears. She wanted to get away. The church was lonely. As though something had happened and now it held no life, but just a memory. Almost as though the ghosts of all the lovers who had plighted their troth at the altar were slipping back again.

But Sarah was smiling happily. And new dreams that were such very old dreams, were shining in her eyes. And Ted was very adoring, very eager to please.

Jean Brady watched them, trying to appear unconcerned. For him marriage would be different. Sue knew. Barbara would make demands, one after another, in her throaty, golden voice. "Not until he had untied her" after layer of its tinsel would he find her selfishness.

There was a dinner at one of the hotels with a wedding cake and flowers, and Jean ate but the other three played with the food. The diamond circlet that sparkled on Sarah's finger was as gleaming as white fire and the guard of dark blue sapphires, slender and lovely, made it even more radiant.

But after the bride and bridegroom were gone Sue realized that she had a whole evening before her. A whole evening and Jean. She hoped he would go away and leave her. Still, she knew, he would consider that ungallant. And it would have been better. But there was nothing for them to do. A movie would have been rather trite after a wedding.

Jean made a suggestion. "I have my car, Sue. And I've got all sorts of notions mixed up with orange blossoms that I'd like to have aired out." If you aren't busy can I persuade, coax or inveigle you to see how fast the car will go?"

"I love speed," Sue answered. "And I'm lonesome. There's a moon." Sort of a nice one. Let's go."

A new version of cape collar that affects sleeves makes this printed dainty unusually attractive. It has pin tucked shoulders. French boys at the center-front add smart trim.

The curved seaming of the circular flaring skirt is a cute idea copied from the adult mode.

A narrow belt marks the normal waistline.

Style No. 2529 is designed for the little miss of 8, 10, 12 and 14 years of sophisticated taste.

It's very easily made as the bodice cuts in one from shoulder to joining of the circular skirt.

Batiste in red and white is very smart as sketched.

Pique print in yellow and white, sailor blue and white, handkerchief lawn, nile green sportswear linen with tiny yellow dots and dimity prints are sturdy combinations well-liked for this unusually attractive model.

Dotted swiss, organdie and tub silks are darling for more simpler "best."

The 8-year size requires 2 yards of 38-inch material with 1/4 yard of 38-inch contrasting.

Never fill a hot-water bottle to its full capacity. If the bottle is to be placed in a bed to warm it, fill the bottle three-quarters full. If applied to one's body to relieve pain it should not be more than a quarter full. This makes it light and soothing. When a hot-water bottle is full it is too heavy for comfort.

BRUSH THE HAIR EVERY NIGHT TO BEAUTIFY IT

BY ALICIA MART

There is art in the way you brush your hair.

Do it right and faithfully and your locks will gleam and grow vivacious looking in response. Dead hair has no life. Brushing, massaging and feeding your head tonic will brighten and strengthen it and make it the crowning glory that should be yours.

First of all, a good brush. I have suggested that you break the bank and buy an excellent one because it will pay dividends in hair loveliness. If you have scruples about doing that, buy as good a one as you can afford and use it more assiduously to make up for your economical streak.

Needs Vigorous Work

Second, brush your hair at night, in the following manner. Start at the temples, brush back and up, with a lift on the upstroke that lifts the hair from the head. Give the hair a pull with the brush, as you stroke it. Wade deep into the hair with your brush. Don't do any surface fanning. Pull it up, lift it, brush out all the dirt and lint.

Between every few strokes, wipe your brush on a Turkish towel. You'll be surprised at how much dirt you get out on it.

From the temples, work up across the forehead, then work back from the temples to the nape of the neck.

Massage the Scalp

When you have circled around your head with the brush, bend your neck over and begin earnestly to brush your hair from the back—out, up and over your head. Brush steadily and firmly. Don't snarl it. But try to massage the scalp as you lift the hair, then stroke the hair firmly.

Brush your hair up from your temples while you have your head bent over, then brush it up from your forehead, too.

This moving the hair about in a different position by brushing gives it exercise, which it needs.

When you have brushed your hair until you feel the scalp tingle and your head feels nice and clean, then finish with your tonic application and massage.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

NO USE RENEWING UNSATISFACTORY ENGAGEMENT—NEGLECTED WIFE MUST ASK FOR HAPPINESS

Dear Virginia Vane: I have recently broken an engagement of four years' standing. The boy J., seems to be terribly upset, although I have told him that I have found another to love. Once before I broke my engagement to J., because it seemed to me that he needed something to shock him into getting a good job and making a man of himself. Also I felt that he was too indifferent to me to make a good husband. When I broke off, he asked for another chance which I gave, and then after a while, he went back to the same old habits again. Now he won't leave me alone, keeps calling, writing letters, etc. etc. And although I don't miss him at all, when he's not around, yet I am just enough interested in him to wonder whether my feeling for my new beau is genuine. Please tell me what you think.

Troubled.

It's pretty hard to get over an engagement of four years' standing, all of a sudden, and you may be finding some difficulty in transferring your affections from one man to another with such rapidity. In spite of yourself you feel more or less attached to J. You've had him around a long time and he's become a real habit.

Also it is pretty flattering to have him calling up and protesting his love for you at all hours of the day and night. If he's the indifferent type of boy you describe, you can't help feeling a little thrill of pleasure over his obvious devotion and anxiety to make you his own again. Almost you feel a sentimental yearning for him—so great is your purely feminine pleasure in his present attitude.

But don't fool yourself. You've given him a fairly good try and you've proved to yourself that he won't do. If, after all this time, you find it in your heart to love someone else give the newcomer a chance. It may be that you're on the right track at last, after making a bad mistake.

Don't go back to J., just because it's the comfortable, easy thing to do, and because you think he's going to be as lover-like and charming as he's been since he thought he couldn't have you. You've had a good chance to judge him and his behavior under normal conditions. At this moment he's showing you the best side of himself because he's desperately afraid of losing you. And there are no lengths to which he won't go—no promises he won't make, just to persuade you to be his again. Use your common sense. You've proved he isn't the right man. Don't go back on your own principles. Be firm, even if the separation causes you a real sentimental tug of the heart-strings. It's best for your happiness, and his, too.

Talk It Over Calmly

ANOTHER WORRIED WIFE: Have you thought of having a talk with your husband about your troubles? Not an outburst of any sort—just a calm statement of facts. Face him as another human being who wants a chance at happiness.

Tell him that you're still young, that you want his love, that you have too much pride to share that love with half-a-dozen other women. And point out to him that it does not make you happy—that if you're lonely and starved for companionship it is only natural that you'll try to find real affection somewhere else.

Say that you're not threatening him, but that you feel he should know definitely how you feel. You have no intention of wasting your life on a man who isn't going to try to make you happy and who neglects you for other women whom he admits he does not really care for.

Perhaps he's assumed too long that you're willing to be tolerant and understanding. Perhaps he has no intention of making any effort in the right direction. In which case it may be something of a surprise to him to learn that you have a definite plan for your happiness which may not include him.

He mustn't feel that you're willing to put up with anything in order to hold him. And a sudden turning of the worm, very often has a good psychological effect.

$2,000 SOUGHT TO ESTABLISH COURT SYSTEM

Neenah and Menasha Each Would Appropriate $1,000 at Start

Neenah—A recommendation, to be presented at the next council meetings of both Neenah and Menasha, asking for an appropriation of $1,000 from each city to pay the salaries of a municipal judge, clerk of courts and a municipal reporter from about Sept. 1, was proposed Tuesday night at a meeting of the council committee composed of aldermen from both cities at Neenah city hall. The appointment of a judge, should such a step be taken by the councils, will be merely temporary until April, when, if the plan is satisfied, the voters will be asked to elect a permanent judge for the next six year term to be voted on. Under the recommendation, the judge appointed by the councils for the short term would receive $300 a month, the clerk of courts $100, and the court reporter $100. All voted for the action but Alderman Freeman and Alderman Martin, the latter having left the meeting. The meeting was filled with arguments for and against the project. Neenah representatives on the committee asked that the matter be held over until February, when the salaries of city officials are set. During this time the committee members could better acquaint themselves with the provisions of the bill, and a budget provided, it was pointed out. The Menasha contingent, however, led by Alderman T. C. McGilgan as chairman of the committee, was anxious for immediate action. So heated was the discussion that Alderman Robert Martin of Neenah left the hall, claiming he was not in favor of the court nor would he vote for it, as the county now has one municipal court which the local tax payer is called upon to help pay for.

perjury on the part of a material witness for the state." It cited also the refusal of the trial court of a further application based upon "the ground that the prosecuting attorney had been guilty of fraud in withholding from the trial court information impeaching the testimony of certain witnesses."

Condemning this "state of law," the commission urged the universal adoption of the proposed code of the American Law Institute. This would provide for the granting of a new trial with the discovery of evidence which might have altered the original verdict, or upon proof that the prosecuting attorney had been guilty of misconduct.

The commission appended 14 recommendations to the body of its report. Among them were suggestions for a wider use of "administration rather than arrest"; a more general use of "summons instead of arrests."

Who's News Today

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press

New York—(CPA)—"Silent Gates McGarrath," as Wall Street used to know him, is probably America's greatest diagnostician of money troubles. As head of the world bank, plugging the leak in the German dyke, Mr. McGarrath brings to the emergency job a profound knowledge of panicky money and its behavior. He was on the runway days of 1907; he was chairman of the committee in 1914, 1917 and 1923 and he was czar of the New York money market during the war. There is none quicker than he is noting and prescribing for sinking sensations in any and all currencies.

Mr. McGarrath attained banking eminence in New York via two upstate towns—Monroe, where he was born and Goshen, where he added miles of figures in the Goshen national bank, long before the days of the adding machine. At 20, he went to New York as a clerk in the Produce Exchange bank. There were no more high stools after this.

His rise was swift, to the chairmanship of the Mechanics' and Metals bank, the presidency of the Union League club and the chairmanship of the federal reserve bank of New York. The least loquacious of all current magnates, his occasional pronouncements carried weight. He sensed the unsoundness of the late big money splash.

"We need a money market with more flexibility and steadiness," he said. "Seven per cent for short money one day and four per cent two days later is not strange—it is amateurish, and I would like to go on record as believing that an unlimited amount of outside call money in the market is uneconomic and a menace to investment markets and to trade and commerce in general."

"My dear, you have forgotten your glasses," called Mrs. Edward Miles, racing after her husband in a motor boat, as he put out to sea for a one-man cruise around the world in his 27-foot boat. That was in August, 1928, as Mr. Miles, 51-year-old New York business man, set out from Brooklyn. Today he sails from Tokyo for Honolulu, in the second boat to be used in his cruise. He started on Friday the first time, and the boat burned and sank in the Red Sea. He returned to Savannah, Ga., and built another boat, which he shipped to the spot where the first one sank, and started again.

At sea in his youth, Mr. Miles carried romance in his head during the grubby years of money making which followed. Then he knocked off and built his boat entirely with his own hands, even forging the hardware. As he left, Mrs. Miles remarked that he "wasn't much on society," and that maybe he would enjoy being alone. Reports from various ports are that, although he doesn't drink or smoke, he has no trouble passing the time.

50 WORKMEN ON NEW HI SCHOOL SHOW PROGRESS

Finish Pouring Concrete for Foundation and Part of 1st Floor

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—With about fifty workmen, including plumbers and electricians on the job, construction of New London high school is progressing rapidly. The building, however, seems a maze of masonry, hardly understandable without explanation by W. H. Farley, the contractor.

Of district interest is the auditorium, now in its first stages of construction, but far enough advanced as that one may visualize the importance of the playhouse in the activities of the school. A stage already has been built, flanked on either side by dressing rooms. The floor has a slight grade, and there will be a balcony running across the rear. This is placed in the east wing, and the ceilings will run high to correspond with the second story and the best of lighting and ventilation has been incorporated into the plans.

On this floor also will be found the nurse's room, conference and debate rooms, a department for text-books and supplies, the general office and the principal's office. Adjoining the gymnasium, which is at the west end of the structure are showers and dressing rooms for boys and girls.

The gymnasium will measure 55 by 80 feet, with a single gallery on one side and a double gallery on another. Here, as in the auditorium, the ceilings will be high. Most of the rooms set apart for school work and recreation are located on the south side and a corridor runs entirely around the building on the first and second floors. There are fourteen recreation rooms on the first floor.

The second floor plans indicate the lockers, toilets, a meeting room for the board of education, a chemical booth and a room for band practice, located above the main entrance.

Mr. Farley states that with much of the foundation completed and an excellent start made on the first floor, the next two weeks will see work beginning on the second floor. The work has gone forward at a good pace, he asserts.

HOT WEATHER SENDS BATHERS TO CITY POOL

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Extreme heat has again made the municipal bathing beach a popular place, and all day long the place is populated.

Believing that the water in this river is pure, many mothers have brought their children to swim. This belief grows out of the fact that the water in the Embarras river has a distinct brown color. This is not dirty water, it has been pointed out, but is caused by the natural clay soil of the river bed. Also it has been pointed out by Dr. F. J. Pfeiffer, health officer, that running water purifies itself in the river, and that the water in the Embarras river is swift enough to remain clear so that parents should feel no alarm.

SCHOOL COSTS BEING CUT AT SCHOOL MEETS

New Well Only Unusual Expense in Four Calumet-co Districts

Forest Junction—An aversion to expenditures on account of the current depression was decidedly noticeable at the annual school meeting held in the district Monday night. In four of the five surrounding districts, only the most essential routine expenses were authorized. Two of them voted a tax levy similar to that of last year, and two others cut an aggregate of $500 from the previous year's figure. District 4, town of Woodville, was threatened with a treasury deficit and was obliged to increase the current tax levy from $200 in 1930 to $300.

The drilling of a new well in district 6, town of Brillion, was the only improvement authorized, and came as a result of the drought, which had left a dry well on the school grounds for a year or more. Henry L. Bastian, who was re-elected district clerk, was also named to head a committee consisting, besides himself, of Leonard Lintner and Louis Lubber, to have the well drilled. District 6 reduced its tax levy from $800 to $600. Eighteen voters attended the meeting of which Edward Kreimann was the chairman.

District number 3 in the town of Brillion will again receive tuition pupils from district 1, town of Holland. Nine pupils from the latter district were transported last year at a cost of $124.80 for transportation and $410.39 for tuition, according to the records of August Knoespel, district clerk. School in this district will open Sept. 8 with Miss Cecelia Plutz as teacher.

The meeting in district 4, town of Woodville, boasts of having the largest attendance with 21 members present. Your Birthday

"CANCER"

If July 15th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 6:15 p. m. The danger hours are from 11:30 a. m. to 2:45 p. m., and from 7:30 p. m. to 10 p. m.

The astrological tendencies of July 15th are slightly unsettled. Changes are indicated in business connections and many unforeseen circumstances will crop up during the day. It would be a wise plan not to attempt any long journeys, as a certain amount of risk would be involved. On the whole, extreme caution is advised.

A child born on this July 15th will possess a delightful, imaginative, and impulsive nature. It will be inclined to be very self-willed and obstinate. It will have intelligence above the average, but will need a great deal of careful watching as its temperament is far too nervous and highly strung. It will have a frank and genial disposition, although at times, inclined to be a trifle moody.

Born on July 15th, you have a very decided and fearless nature. You are extremely venturesome and take great risks, but although surprisingly lacking in caution, you usually succeed in your rash undertakings. This quality makes you a subject of admiration among your acquaintances and you are easily a very popular person. This is very fortunate for you, as you are a type who craves attention and loves to be made a fuss over. Not that you are vain; on the contrary, for a person as talented and as interesting as yourself, you are surprisingly without conceit. You have tremendous possibilities, but are inclined to let your social actions interfere with your business. This is really a shame, and something about which you should be very careful, as your career is really more important in the long run. You are too receptive to easy surroundings.

Money has very little value in your eyes. It is just something to be used and nothing more. You are far too generous and never think twice before helping out a cause, whether worthy or unworthy. You should exercise a little more caution in this respect as people are likely to take advantage of your generous instincts. You have a very affectionate nature, and your marital happiness is assured.

WAUPACA FARMER HAS FINE FIELD OF BEANS

Waupaca—For the first time he ever experimented with the crop, John Stehs, route 6, has the best field of soybeans to be seen in a day's drive. The beans are thick in the rows, about 14 inches high with no sign of weeds and are exceedingly healthy and thrifty.

It was said that Mr. Stehs planted the beans to anchor blow sand in a flat field so that the sand would not interfere with crops in some of his other fields, and to fit the field for raising succeeding crops.

Even if these were his purposes, and they are good ones, Mr. Stehs, so far has made a great success with his experiment in raising soybeans. On the other hand if his purpose is to raise feed for dairy cattle, sheep or hogs, he could not have done better than to plant the field with soybeans.

The beans give the field the appearance of being the richest field in the neighborhood and serve as a stop signal for all automobiles on the highway.

TIMOTHY STORED WITHOUT CURING

Farmers Haul in Thousands of Loads of Hay in Nearby Counties

BY W. F. WINSEY

The hot winds of Tuesday made it possible for farmers of Door, Kaukauna, and Waupaca to haul thousands of loads of timothy hay from their fields into their barns without any attempt at curing. As the season of making timothy hay is now late, the leaves are dry and the stems are woody. Standing in the fields, the hay needs no treatment but cutting and hauling into the barns. These farmers declared that they know there is little feed in timothy hay for dairy cows and the only reason for hauling it into barns is that they have no other hay.

The same hot wind that aided farmers in the rapid making of hay did them considerable damage. It rolled the leaves of their corn and sugar beets, turned some of the leaves on their potato vines brown, ripened barley and oats altogether too fast, helped to turn the lower leaves of beans yellow, and helped to put the finishing touches on pastures.

The farmers in those counties not engaged in haying were cultivating late corn and sugar beets, cutting Canada thistles in their grain fields, and cutting fields of rye and barley.

WAUPACA FARMERS HARVEST HAY CROP

Most of Them Finish Putting First Alfalfa Cutting in Mows

BY W. F. WINSEY

Waupaca—Farmers of Waupaca county were busy last week harvesting their timothy hay crop. Most of them have finished putting their first cutting of alfalfa in their mows. The yields of clear alfalfa ranged from one to two tons per acre and the yields of timothy are ranging from a quarter of a ton to one and one-half tons per acre. Pasture as in other counties is exceedingly light and dried up.

So far corn is showing up as the banner crop of the year in Waupaca county with small grain a close second. In growth and present condition potatoes rank as the third crop and the acreage appears to be up to the yearly average. The heat and moisture shortage is causing the leaves of tasseling corn to roll up during the heat of the day and the potato vines in many fields to show a brown tinge.

Never before in the history of potato growing have bugs been more numerous, more voracious, and more destructive, than this year, and never before have the growers put up a more determined fight to kill the pests and save their crops. In most of the fields people are still dusting or spraying the vines.

As haying draws toward its close next week, the rye and barley already started will expand and soon be on full tilt.

CHERRY PICKING STARTS THIS WEEK

Annual Harvest to Get Underway in Full Swing at End of Week

BY W. F. WINSEY

Sturgeon Bay — Cherry pickers were at work Tuesday in a few of the large orchards of Door-co, and they will be busy in all of the large orchards before the close of the week. There probably are more working men among the cherry pickers than ever before. Entire families were at work about some of the trees in the highways leading to this city, men and boys were trying to get lifts to the orchards, and many cars and trucks loaded with Oneida Indians pulled into one of the large orchards Monday afternoon. The population of this city and Door-co has been increased considerably with industrious men and women, boys and girls from outside who came with the hope of getting work. Home people from all parts of Door-co also are in the orchards.

The hot winds, glaring sun, and dry ground made cherry picking somewhat unpleasant on Monday but the weather man has promised relief in the way of showers. The desire of the pickers to fill pails and the sight of clusters of cherries overcame the annoyance of the hot winds and drought.

RED RASPBERRY CRCP LIGHT IN WAUPACA-CO

Waupaca—Red raspberries, black caps and black berries will be a light crop this year in Waupaca-co, according to the statement of growers and grocers and the appearance of the patches. Apples and other fruits will also be light. Very few home grown raspberries have showed up on the counters or in the windows of stores, and such berries were out of reach of the customer in Waupaca and New London on Saturday. The shortage of home grown berries, apples and other fruits this year is quite general in the counties of Northeastern Wisconsin.

The shortage of the berry crop is due, perhaps, to the lack of a snow covering and the winterkilling of the bearing canes. Even bending the bushes to the ground and covering them last fall did not save many of the bushes protected in that manner. The failure of the covering suggests that owing to the drought last summer, the bushes were not as vigorous as usual last fall, or in other words they went into the winter in a half-starved condition.

CUTS 26 TONS FROM 24 ACRES ALFALFA

Second Stand of Walter Sommer, Dale, Is Thick and Even

BY W. F. WINSEY

Dale—Walter Sommer of this village has 24 acres of alfalfa that gave him 26 tons of hay the first cutting this summer. His second stand is thick and even and about 12 inches high. In one field, he cut the second stand on Saturday, and will cut two other fields the second time next week or the week after.

Extended along the highway where all alfalfa, sweet clover and soybeans should grow, as an advertisement of progressive, thrifty farming and beauty spots for the enjoyment of the traveling public.

Mr. Sommer's alfalfa slows down all passing cars and stops a large percentage of them.

Aside from their service in economical farm production, alfalfa, sweet clover and soybean fields in blossom or in their incomparable green rank above the choicest flower gardens in the estimation of the traveling public.

In service as feed for farm animals, these crops cut down old-time farm production costs seventy-five per cent.

Mr. Sommer has been raising alfalfa successfully the past eight years.

ESSEX Owners are Surprised at the Greater Value of the New Super-Six Selective FREE WHEELING is but one of its many Improvements

The New Essex Super-Six, which now includes Selective Free Wheeling, excites the enthusiasm of all. But its strongest appeal is to those who have owned Essex for years. They are the ones best qualified to judge it. And their spontaneous approval is convincing proof of its genuine fitness.

You'll find Essex owners are folks that like to tour. They think nothing of thousand-mile trips that call for two-day schedules, because they know that Essex is always ready to go when they are. Hence, they are the most severe critics of a car's performance, its year in and year out endurance, and low operating cost.

They expect and get a lot in Essex. And thus it is important that those who are most familiar with Essex are the most enthusiastic over the New Super-Six with Selective Free Wheeling. They say: "We didn't think it possible to make Essex finer or better—but you've certainly done it!"

Doesn't this loyalty to Essex stand as your most convincing proof of Essex quality and ability? If you want final proof, drive the new Essex Super-Six and experience its brilliant, nimble and smooth performance, made even more luxurious because of Selective Free Wheeling.

St. Louis Cards Shake Off Latest Threat, Trim Robins 3 To 2

BUSH PITCHES BRUINS TO WIN OVER NEW YORK

Giants Score Four Runs in Final Frame to Avoid Complete Shutout

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Largely to the efforts of a cast-off shortstop and a rookie first baseman, neither of whom figured in Gabby Street's pre-season plans, the St. Louis Cardinals appear to have shaken off the latest threat to their supremacy in the National league.

Jake Flowers, obtained recently from the Brooklyn Robins, and Jim Collins, the wallowing young first baseman who took over Jim Bouton's post, continue to play bang-up ball for the champions. Flowers, batting in the lead-off position, hit a homerun, a double and a single and scored two runs to help beat his former teammates, the Robins, 3 to 2, in yesterday's opener at St. Louis.

Collins, batting at clean-up, got one of the seven hits the Cards managed off Dazzy Vance.

A veteran, Frankie Frisch, was the ultimate hero of the game, however. It was his double in the eighth that scored Watkins with the winning run. The victory placed the champions five and a half games in front of the second place New York Giants and seven ahead of Brooklyn.

Guy Bush, young Chicago Cub right-hander, turned back the Giants 3 to 4, in the first game of the series at Wrigley Field. Bush allowed only eight hits, four of which came in the ninth inning and produced all the Giant runs.

Pittsburgh scored a pair of victories over the Phillies, 4 to 1 and 3 to 2, the second engagement going ten innings before the Pirates beat out Phil Collins. Heine Meims held the Phils in the first out while Paul Waner and Pie Traynor led an assault on three Philadelphia pitchers. Between them, the pair drove in seven runs.

Boston Trims Reds
Errors by Tony Cuccinello, youthful second baseman, cost the Cincinnati Reds a 3 to 2 defeat at the hands of the Boston Braves. Old Tom Zachary made the route to get the decision, even though he allowed two more hits than St. John.

The Detroit Tigers, not at all impressed with the fact they were facing George Earnshaw, clubbed out a 12 to 3 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics in the first of a five-game series. They fell on the Athletics Ace for 11 of their 16 hits, including a homerun by Jimmie Stone, before he was relieved in the ninth. Herring kept the champions' 12 hits well scattered.

Bill Killifer's freshman infield again was very much in evidence as the St. Louis Browns scored a 5 to 3 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. Single and double by Jimmie Stone, before he was relieved in the ninth, accounted for three runs in the sixth. Burn's blow drove in the last two. The same infield cut down the Red Sox last threat with a double play in the ninth.

The veteran, Urban Faber displayed a bit of his old time form in pitching the Chicago White Sox to a 9 to 1 victory over Washington. He allowed the Senators only five hits for seven innings and Pat Caraway blanked them the last two. Carl Reynolds drove in three Chicago runs with a triple and single.

Earl Averill and Lou Gehrig hit two homers apiece as the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees divided a pair. Gehrig hit his twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth homers to help the Yanks win the first, 19 to 2. Averill's eighteenth four-bagger provided the winning runs as the Indians won the nightcap, 3 to 1. Lynn Lar, Yankee shortstop, celebrated his marriage earlier in the day by hitting a homerun double and single in his first game.

Newland Unable to Face Heavy Artillery in Fraternal League Tilt

Touching Newland for 11 hits, the Zion softball team last night trounced the Knights of Columbus nine to the tune of a 17 to 1 count out on the first ward lot. The Knights scored their lonely run in the seventh inning on an error.

The Zion aggregation piled up 11 runs in the first six innings as the Knights went wild. Stoddard, Feldman and Gohlbom constituted the heavy artillery for the winners. Each of them pounded doubles and singles galore. Murphy got the only two batters for the K. C. aggregation.

Vervey pitched for the Zion nine and Carl Tank stood behind the bat. Newland occupied the mound for the K. C. team and Rooney supported him behind the pan.

Champion by One Stroke

Walter Hagen Percy Alliss

One lonely stroke in the final match for the Canadian Open Golf championship yesterday made the old showman, Walter Hagen the victor and Percy Alliss, British pro from the Wannsee club, Berlin, the vanquished. Alliss led during the morning round by one stroke, but Hagen countered in the afternoon round and handed in a 63 card, four under par. Alliss handed in a 70 card in the afternoon.

Guy Bush, young Chicago Cub right-hander, turned back the Giants 3 to 4, in the first game of the series at Wrigley Field. Bush allowed only eight hits, four of which came in the ninth inning and produced all the Giant runs.

KID CHOCOLATE, BASS TO MIX UP TONIGHT

Philadelphia (AP)—Kid Chocolate, the battling Cuban tonight will attempt to wrest the junior lightweight crown from Benny Bass in a ten-round fight at the National League baseball park.

Bass acknowledged holder of the 120-pound title everywhere except in New York state, has risked his crown only once since he won it from Tod Morgan in New York in 1929.

Despite the speed and boxing skill of the challenger, Bass is favored to retain his title. Kid Chocolate has never been knocked out and is no stranger to championship jousts. Bass also boasts a ring career in which he has yet to be knocked out.

STAR PITCHERS OF ATHLETICS TALLY FORTY-FOUR WINS

Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg Only Half Way Through Schedule

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright, 1931, Cons. Press
NEW YORK (AP)—It is only mid-July just over the half-way mark in the major league season, and already the three star pitchers of the Philadelphia Athletics have 44 victories to their credit.

A three-pitching record is now the goal of Messrs. Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg.

What do those 44 victories mean? That in the season of 1931 these three flingers have it in them, if they maintain the pace, to win more than 75, probably 80 games. And if the American league championship can be won with 90 victories, which is entirely possible—then this trio will have come within ten games or so of hurling the A's into the World Series.

That makes it easy to understand why Mickey Cochrane says the pennant is "in the basket."

The strength of Earnshaw as a pitcher has been demonstrated that year by success against teams that might menace his pals, except in one instance. He has not been successful against Washington.

Senators Unbeaten
He has won a game in Washington but has lost two there. He has won three games from the Yankees and lost one. He has soaked Boston three times. He has beaten Cleveland twice and has done the same thing to Detroit. He has won three from Chicago.

That makes three teams from which he has won three games. New York, Boston and Chicago. That represents more than a week of championship campaigning—and when a team is a week ahead in a championship race, the players sleep more peacefully.

Earnshaw has won one game from St. Louis and lost one. Thus there are no teams in the American league against which he has failed to pitch a winning game.

Now comes Lefty Grove with a record quite identical. He has been good over Washington. Three times he has beaten them and once he has lost. He has defeated the Yankees twice, and done the same to Boston. He has twice won from Cleveland and has won three games from Detroit. Chicago beat him once but he has three victories over the White Sox. He has beaten St. Louis twice.

Trim Sox Thrice
The only team from which Rube Walberg has won three games is Chicago. That does not detract from the fact that he is a powerful left hand auxiliary rallying to the support of his associates.

It is not the fact that the Athletics are in the lead which is so prominent this year as that they are in the lead because these three pitchers have them. Managers who have said that three pitchers cannot stand the wear and tear of a season are confuted by the present success of these three, and almost every manager is predicting that they will break down and have their reverses before the season is over. They show no sign of it. The dog days may get them, but the heat up to now has not wilted their collars.

BANKERS TROUNCE COATED TEAM, 4 TO 2

Money Handlers Cut Loose in the Sixth Inning to Take Lead

The Bankers, tied for second place in the National Softball league, defeated the Appleton Coated Paper Co. aggregation, second berth squad on the American league ladder by a score of 4 to 2 Tuesday evening on the first ward diamond.

The Coated Paper team led the Bankers up to the sixth inning by a score of 2 to 0, and in that frame the Bankers cut loose with three runs to take the lead. They scored again in the eighth for the final count of the fracas.

Stoeffel played a great game in the field and also got a home run for the paper manufacturers. Batteries for the Bankers was Woehler and McKenzie, pitching, and Stoegbauer and Woehler, catching. For the Coated team Egbert, pitch, and Brookhaus, catch.

HAGEN DEFEATS ALLISS TO WIN CANADIAN OPEN

Fights Uphill Battle and Turns Back Berlin Star by One Stroke

TORONTO (AP)—The Canadian Open golf championship at last has fallen into the hands of Walter Hagen.

Virtually all the golf's major titles have gone at one time or another to the 39-year-old veteran but the Canadian crown always had escaped his grasp until he whipped Percy Alliss, British pro of the Wannsee club, Berlin, by a single stroke in a nerve-racking 36-hole playoff yesterday.

Hagen's victory gained only after the most determined kind of fighting, marked the 13th straight time the title has gone to the United States. Douglas Edgar of Atlanta started the American parade by winning in 1919 and 1920 and since then Leo Diegel has won the crown four times, Tommy Armour twice, and Bill Trolinger, Al Watrous, Clarence Hackney, MacDonald Smith and Hagen once each.

The playoff was all square on six occasions and with first Hagen and then Alliss taking the lead. Alliss held a four-stroke advantage after four holes and led by single stroke margins at the end of nine, eighteen and twenty-seven holes.

On the last nine Hagen rallied briskly to take a two stroke lead at the 29th only to have Alliss sink a 35-foot putt at the 34th hole to make the match all square again.

The decisive break came on the next hole. Hagen's second rolled to within inches of the cup and he sank the short putt for a birdie three. Alliss, needing only to sink a one-yard putt to halve the hole and keep on even terms, lost his putting touch and the ball rolled to one side of the cup and he took four to give Hagen an one-stroke lead. The home hole was halved in four although Alliss came within an ace of sinking a long putt for the birdie that would have forced another 36-hole playoff.

Hagen, in winning the championship, shot three rounds of 68. He led the field with 68-68 at the half-way mark, added 72 on his third round and 74 on his fourth to perfect his lead to him with 67-71-73-71 at 232. Hagen's third 68 came in Tuesday's playoff.

Last year Tommy Armour won the title in a playoff with Leo Diegel.

The win boosts the average of the wire makers to .556, and sends the legion average to a round .200. The Wireweavers aggregation is now in a position to get at the Atlas team, which sits in a rather unbalanced position on the fourth rung of the league ladder.

The legion nine scored their first run in the fifth, after the Wires had tallied five counters. In the sixth the legion team rallied a little more and managed to bring in two more. Their last run was scored in the final inning.

The Wires pounded in one run in the sixth, three in the seventh and one in the eighth. Demand occupied the mound for the Wireweavers, and Weiland supported him behind the pan. Batteries for the legionaries: Connelly pitch, and Smith, catch.

Interest In "Jamboree" Running At High Tide

INTEREST in the first annual "Jamboree" scheduled for Thursday at the Butte des Morts golf club is at fever pitch, and running at high tide, according to club members.

The registration list has expanded to well over the 200 mark, and "Jamboree" officials expect a total attendance of 275 to 300. Golfers have registered from Chicago, Milwaukee, Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Sheboygan, Manitowish, and other cities in this part of the Fox river valley.

Prizes galore are to be awarded at the "Jamboree" for every kind of golfing. The prize list has grown to tremendous proportions and is valued in excess of $540, it is reported. Prizes vary from golf clubs, shoes, bags and other equipment to cases of sauerkraut and picnic baskets.

A huge ham is to be awarded to the golfer who hands in the most appropriate score on the four short holes of the course. Other prizes will be awarded for everything a golfer does or does not do.

The largest contribution to the prize list was announced yesterday. When "Cub" Buck, Neenah reported receipt of a Model T Ford, in good shape and fine running order. The "rattler" will be used as a first aid wagon on the course during play.

YACHT CLUB TO STAGE REGATTA HERE JULY 26

Mile Course to Be Laid Out on Little Lake Butte des Morts

AN event which will send the memories of many old times in Appleton back to the early days when they used to hop aboard old open deck paddle wheelers to watch races on Lake Winnebago and the Fox river, will take place on Little Lake Butte des Morts Sunday, July 26, when the Appleton Yacht club stages its first annual regatta.

Interest in the regatta is already widespread, judging from the number of entries which are being received by club members. Boats have been entered from Milwaukee, Sheboygan Falls, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Clintonville, Green Bay and Appleton.

Between 20 and 25 crafts will participate in the race, in four separate classes, B, C, F, in outboard speedboats and one division for a free for all sprint for inboard motors. The Class B race will include outboard motors up to nine horsepower; Class C, nine to 15 horsepower; and Class F for high power outboards.

Boats of all shapes and designs will be eligible to participate in the free for all.

The course is to be laid with the start and finish line in front of Stroeb's Island, and can be viewed by spectators from both sides of the river. Spar buoys will be set out in the river to mark the course. The course can be reached by way of Highway 125 north of Neenah and southwest of Appleton.

Stock Motors
All motors in the outboard events must be stock motors and boats must comply with rules and regulations of the National Outboard association, according to club officials. Racers are required to wear an approved life belt and no boat is to be started without a racing number properly displayed. It was pointed out.

At least six boats from Appleton will compete. Edward Forster is getting his inboard craft into shape, and expects to walk away with one of the big prizes. His craft is equipped with a Universal motor.

Andrew Liethe also expects to enter his outboard speedboat. Andy has been spinning around the waters of Lake Winnebago during the past few weeks, getting the craft into trim for the big event.

Approximately $200 in prizes are to be awarded by the club. Most of the prize money is being subscribed by Appleton business men, interested in the creation of more interest in boating. Winners of first places in the four events will get $25 each; second place $10, and third place $5. Stevens is Chairman.

Paul R. Stevens is general chairman in charge of regatta arrangements. Early this week he appointed the following committees: Finance, Leo Schroeder, Richard Wenzlaf, Herbert Brock, William Falatic, and Rud

Chapter 35
"THAT telegram, sir, is an outrage," said Old Tony, following up Ann's protest to the sheriff. He patted Ann's hand reassuringly.

"Don't be alarmed, my dear. This ridiculous order will never be carried out. It is preposterous. It is like everything else that silly ass of a sheriff in Orchard Hill has done from the first evening when he arrested your father."

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Carey," said the sheriff. "Suppose you tell me the whole story. I'd be mighty glad to help you if I can."

"I think that would be best, Ann," agreed Old Tony.

"Where shall I begin?"
"Suppose you begin with the disappearance of your husband," said the sheriff. "I know the main facts of the affair at the bank, and the arrest of your father. I thought it was established beyond doubt that Bruce Carey was in Camden when the crime was committed."

"Yes, sir, Bruce was delivering some papers to the president of the Camden bank."

"Then why didn't he come back home to Orchard Hill?"
"Why, Bruce didn't even know about what had happened at the bank when he went away. His going away was planned before anything could have happened. He left a letter about it—about his going away, I mean."

"Who has this letter?" the sheriff asked.
"I have."

"Haven't you shown this letter to the authorities?"
"Oh, no, sir. Nobody but Father Tony and Pierre and I know about Bruce's reasons for going away. I simply couldn't let Orchard Hill know. I—I would die of shame and it would be terrible for Pierre. It would be just as bad for Bruce too when he comes back. We could never live such a thing down. It was all such a horrible mistake—Bruce's going away. It would have been had enough any time, but for him to disappear for a reason that we had not let anybody know about, the very night the bank—"

"I see," said the sheriff. "And when Bruce didn't show up the morning after the crime the officers began hunting him in spite of his alibi."

"Yes, sir. And Father Tony and Pierre and I thought if Bruce could only come home of his own free will before the officers found him, that everything would be all right—and nobody would ever need to know the reason for his going away, as they would have to know if he were arrested and brought back in connection with the bank."

"You were right in that, Mrs. Carey. But it would have been better if you had told the authorities why your husband disappeared."

"We could never have gone on living in Orchard Hill if I had. And wouldn't the officers have arrested him and brought him back for the bank just the same? Besides, it—it wouldn't have been fair to Pierre."

"Pierre?" The sheriff glanced at the telegram in his hand. "Who is this Pierre Donovan?"
Ann looked appealing at Old Tony.

"Pierre Donovan, sir," the old actor spoke impressively, as if referring to a personage of more than ordinary importance. "Pierre Donovan is the son of one Roy Donovan and Harriet Noel, his wife. She died when her son was only a child and I had the honor to be appointed by her as executor of her will and guardian of her son. Pierre is destined to be as great an artist of the stage as was his mother."

"Harriet Noel was one of the greatest actresses of her day. Her boy grew to manhood in the atmosphere of the theater—so far as it was possible for me to create such an atmosphere for him in Orchard Hill."

"This home is in Orchard Hill, is it?"
"Pierre made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Carey. These three young people, sir, grew up together in Orchard Hill."

"This man is an actor, you say?"
"Pierre Donovan was born to be an actor. His earliest memories are of the theater—when he was on the stage in child parts with his mother. He has been reared in the best traditions of dramatic art. He was about to begin his life work by enrolling in the Academy of Dramatic Art when suddenly this unfortunate situation developed."

"And so Pierre lived with you and your husband, Mrs. Carey?"
Poor Ann's reply was scarcely audible. "Yes, sir."

"And did he work in the bank, too, with your father and your husband?"
"Oh, no, sir. Pierre worked in the new Jewel Store. He was a soda fountain clerk."

"What did you mean, Mrs. Carey, when you said just now that you couldn't tell why your husband went away because it wouldn't be fair to your soda fountain clerk?"
Again Ann turned to Old Tony appealingly. "Must I tell him, Father Tony?"

"I'm afraid you must, Ann." The sheriff waited.
At last Ann managed to speak. "Bruce thought that Pierre and I were in love with each other—I mean—in a way that we had no right to be. In the letter he left for me he said that I had been untrue to him, and that was why he was leaving me and was never coming back. Don't you see, sir, why I couldn't tell anybody know that Bruce had left me for such a reason as that? Don't you see how unfair it would have been to Pierre?"
"Pierre knew why your husband left you, didn't he?"
"Oh, yes, sir. Pierre and Father Tony read the letter after the officers took father away. And we decided it would be best not to mention the letter to any one—and that Pierre must go and find Bruce and bring him back home before the officers could arrest him for the bank trouble."

"What made you think that Bruce might be in these parts?"
"Because Pierre's father, who deserted Pierre and his mother when Pierre was a little boy, wrote Bruce about a wonderful gold mine out here, and wanted Bruce to get money to put in it."

"And did Bruce get money to invest in this mine?"
Ann answered the question with wondrous indignation as she remembered how Bruce had taken Pierre's money.

"Yes, sir, he did. He persuaded Pierre to let him have his school money. But Pierre doesn't know that it is his father who has this mine. Pierre's father wasn't good to his mother, and Bruce thought if Pierre knew, he wouldn't let him have the money."

"Didn't the officers know about this mine?"
"Father Tony and I left Orchard Hill. You see, from the first, Bruce never would let us tell anybody about it, because he was connected with the bank, and he thought Mr. Dayton the president, wouldn't like him to be interested in mines and such things."

"I see. So you thought Pierre could find your husband and bring him back home before the sheriff could locate him?"
Yes, sir."

"What about your father, Mrs. Carey? He is under arrest for this bank crime, isn't he?"
Ann wrung her hands. "Oh, yes, sir. And that is another reason why Bruce must come home. Bruce will know what to do to help father."

"We—we didn't know what to do, I—I needed Bruce so. Don't you understand, sir?"
"There, there, ma'am," the sheriff assured her. "Sure, I understand. But what are you and your old friend doing away out here in Nevada?"

"We came because I was so worried about Bruce and Pierre. I was afraid Bruce wouldn't come home. You see, he thinks that Pierre and I—that we—Pierre might never even find Bruce, and if he didn't, he and Bruce might—I haven't heard a word from Pierre since he left. He might get into all sorts of trouble. Do you know where Pierre is, sir? Has he found Bruce? Are they all right?"

SEE INCREASED PRODUCTION OF CORN IN STATE

Potatoes, Fruits and Alfalfa Also Look Better This Year

Madison —(P)—Increased production of corn, potatoes, fruits and alfalfa and lower production of hay and grain marked the July crop report which was announced today by Walter Ebling, statistician for the U. S. and Wisconsin departments of agriculture.

A shortage of rainfall recently has proved unfavorable to the development of grain and the prospects are below those of last year. Oats, the state's leading crop, now has an estimated production of 22,215,669 bushels as compared with about 108,630,000 bushels last year, a decrease of 15 per cent.

Barley production is forecast at 23,530,000 bushels as compared with 26,011,000 bushels last year. Winter grains are below last year's average. Winter wheat acreage has been cut one-fourth and the crop will be considerably smaller than last year. Rye production will be lower also.

Corn prospects are "splendid," Mr. Ebling said, pointing out that it is 90 per cent of normal as compared with 65 per cent a year ago. The corn acreage is about five per cent larger than last year and the production is now estimated at 90,822,000 bushels as compared with 79,355,000 bushels last year.

Hay is in poorer condition than last year. The acreage is about 10 per cent less than that of last year. Lack of rain and winter-killing has brought the crop estimate to 4,880,000 tons as compared with 5,672,000 tons last year, a reduction of 14 per cent. Alfalfa has been making good yields, Mr. Ebling said.

Pastures are about 73 per cent of normal as compared with 84 per cent last year and 94 per cent two years ago. The statistician reports 73 per cent of normal as the pasture condition for the entire country as compared with 86 per cent, the ten year average.

Fruit production will be higher than last year, when frosts did damage, but truck crops show a general decline. Acreage was decreased for canning peas, sweet corn, cabbage, snap beans and cucumbers.

Potatoes, Wisconsin's leading cash crop, show an increase of 10 per cent in acreage and the production is now forecast at 26,800,000 bushels as compared with 18,056,000 bushels a year ago. The production for the United States is estimated at 336,451,000 bushels as compared with 345,286,000 harvested last year, an increase of 15.5 per cent.

Tobacco production for Wisconsin is estimated at 14,000,000 pounds as compared with about 17,000,000 pounds last year, a prospective decrease of six per cent. Acreage is the same as last year.

FUR PRICES FALL TO LOWEST LEVELS

Coats and Scarfs at Bottom Figures for Next 15 Years, Claim

New York —(P)—The colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady can be sisters under the fur coats next winter.

Prices are much lower. One of New York's largest furriers, with connections throughout the entire country, said today that fur coats and scarfs are now at the lowest figure that can be expected for 15 years.

In keeping with the lower costs, this firm reported a 2,000 per cent increase in fur sales in the period from last autumn up to now, as compared with a year ago.

Squirrel has come down out of the high price branches to within reach of many more fur buyers. The price has dropped from $4, 35 and 36 a skin to $1.

Persian lamb, caracul, the ritzy mink and leopard are among the leading furs for the coming season. The coquettish raccoon has dropped in price more than 30 per cent. Because of the increasing demands for wraps of this fur, its style scope now includes a more formal coat possessing fringed hems and large flattering collars of other furs.

Mink may be had at prices 20 to 45 per cent lower than in other seasons. The demand for this fur this year, wholesale dealers said, is almost as great as the supply.

Sable is still the patrician. Though a little lower in price than in other years it still is one of the most expensive furs.

Chinchilla and Ermine will again be more for evening. Wraps of these furs will be loose and luxurious. The collars will be deep and of stam or cape effect. The sleeves will be wide dolman or mandarin.

Alaska and Hudson Bay seal are the furrier's perennial standbys. Logwood brown is being shown for street and sports wear, and black with rich fox collars, for dress. An innovation is the use of Persian lamb for trimmings.

Fox and minkskin are other good setting furs for formal wear. German and Russian fish are equally popular.

New fur coats are fitted closely to the figure with a circular fullness below the knees. They are long. Sleeves have wide armholes and many of them have snug undercuts for warmth.

Outagamie County Waters Soon Will Be Stocked With Fish From Rearing Ponds

Success of sportsmen at Hortonville in raising rainbow trout in a rearing pond has focused attention on the work of fish propagation and rearing that has been going on in Outagamie-co in the last few years. Not less than a half dozen ponds for rearing and propagating fish will be in operation within the county before the end of this year and it is the hope of the sponsors that within a few years fishing in this vicinity will be better than it ever has been.

The work in this county actually started about four years ago when R. J. Meyer, long interested in fish propagation and conservation, asked the Wisconsin Conservation commission where he might obtain adult black bass to be used for propagation purposes. He received little encouragement from the state commission, however, and applied to the United States bureau of fisheries for help. Representatives of the bureau were sent here and after an investigation 15 adult bass were placed in a pond on the asylum farm. Soon after they were planted, however, a cloudburst washed out the dam and several of the fish were carried out into the fields. A few remained however, and spawned but during the winter they were frozen in the ice.

Try Again

Neither Mr. Meyer nor the United States bureau was daunted by this failure, however, and last year 12 more adult bass were obtained. Six were placed in a pond on the Mrs. Henry Reilen farm in the town of Greenville and six in a pond on the Ziegler farm at Freedom. The fish in the Ziegler pond died within two weeks, but those in the Reilen pond spawned and last fall 1,100 black bass were taken from the water and placed in Partridge lake at Fremont. About 150 bass were seven inches long and the others ranged from four to six inches. Several hundred fish, with the adults were left in the pond, but this year a heavy snow formed over the water in June and it is not known whether any of the fish born this year have survived. The experiment last year definitely proved, however, that fish propagation, under favorable conditions, can be successfully carried on in this county.

This spring a group of Hortonville fishermen, encouraged by the success of the experiment at Greenville, constructed a pond around a spring hole on the Arthur Schmidt property. The total cost of the pond was only $65 and it was constructed for rearing black bass, but when it was finished its promoters wanted to experiment with trout. Fifty hundred rainbow fry were obtained from the federal bureau and placed in the water about two months ago. They were only an inch long when they were taken to Hortonville but when they were taken from the water this week for planting in a creek near the village

Her bobbed autumn hair will be decked with a flowery veil embroidered with gold thread and her train will be resplendent with silver fringe. They are the work of two girls from the Rumanian Y. W. C. A., founded by the princess.

About 5,000 black bass fry are expected in a few days and will be placed in the pond where they will remain until fall when they will be taken out and placed in the village mill pond. It is probable these fish will be from five to eight inches long when they are placed in the mill pond.

Another pond is to be constructed as soon as a breeding place for sunfish, perch and crappies. It is the ambition of the Hortonville sportsmen to stock the village pond so thoroughly that fishing will be better than it has ever been in since the white man arrived.

STOCK MARKET STILL NERVOUS OVER CRISIS

Stocks Break Sharply After Drifting for Past Two Days

By Claude A. Jagger

Associated Press Financial Editor
New York—(AP)—Wall Street was still dominated by the acute financial situation in central Europe today, and nervousness increased in stock market.

Stocks broke sharply, after drifting uncertainly yesterday and most of Monday, but more moderate than the foreign exchange markets, where an abrupt decline in the pound sterling to the lowest level since 1925, was disturbing. The French franc, was strong, in the face of weakness in most other currencies.

After declines of 1 to more than 6 points in many prominent issues, the list suffered a little in the afternoon, and recovered of about a point from the lowest were numerous. Ralls were conspicuously weak. Issues including U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, Chrysler, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, Eastman, Consolidated Gas, Case, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Rock Island. Atchison dropped about 8 points, and Auburn got down 12 before rallying. Losses of between 1 and 2 points were registered by General Motors and General Electric.

Selling for foreign account was strong to be substantial volume, and sharp loss orders which had been placed under the market during the recent partial paralysis of trading were executed in some volume as they were reached. In the meantime bears appeared to have had their claws clipped. It was widely rumored that they had been requested by important interests to stay on the sidelines, and that stock exchange officials were on the alert to detect and deal with any attempts to bear raiding.

The definite information given out in important banking quarters last night that further credits to Germany cannot be undertaken by private or central banks, without government leadership, sent glimmering any hopes of immediate alleviation of the German situation. The renewal of the $100,000,000 credit to the reichsbank which falls due tomorrow had been regarded as a foregone conclusion, inasmuch as payment at this time would have been out of the question.

In the meantime, domestic news was mildly encouraging. For the first time this year, the weekly report of electric power consumption showed a slight gain over 1930. As it was for the week ended July 11, it presumably reflected less protracted factory shutdowns around the independence day holiday. While the gain was only 3.10 of one per cent, it was none the less a pleasing change.

The steel industry appears to have reached about the irreducible minimum level of operations. The weekly steel reviews indicated some slight curtailment of operations as compared to the previous week. While the average still holds somewhat above 30 per cent of capacity.

Freight car loadings, as reported for the holiday week, showed a drop of 91,411 cars from the previous week, which was substantially less than usually expected for that week. The daily average for business days showed a more than seasonal gain over the preceding week.

The petroleum statistics were less satisfactory. While the past week saw a further reduction of over 1,300,000 barrels in gasoline in storage, the average daily crude output gained 82,150 barrels. This should be recalled, however, by the decision of midcontinent operators to start drawing pending better prices.

Credit was a little firmer. Call money held officially at 15 per cent, but little was available outside at concessions.

The downward trend continued in such loans as Argentine 5s of May 1931, Australian 5s of 1931, Belgian 5s of 1931 and San Paolo 5s of 1931. The decline was most apparent in the foregoing loans but it was general in all domestic corporate bonds.

Lessons of 1 point or more occurred in St. Paul 5s of 1931, Erie 5s of 1931, Nickel Plate 4s of 1931 and Union Pacific 4s of 1931 of which were active. Ralls were fractionally lower generally. Really high grade ralls held their ground. Atchison General 5s sold at the peak established yesterday and New York Central 5s of 1931 were active and fractionally higher.

Trading in public utilities was quiet on the whole but the downward trend appeared among them also. Industrial loans were somewhat more active than the utilities. Stock privilege issues slumped in sympathy with the weakness in the corresponding stocks.

Loans of the United States government were dull without a definite trend.

HOG PRICES BOOSTED BY RISE IN DEMAND

14,000 More Head Brought to Markets Compared With Last Week

Chicago—(AP)—Further advances in hog prices looked up as broadened eastern demand came into the local market. While the fresh run of 14,000, including 3,000 hogs consigned direct to packing establishments, were about on a par with last Wednesday's supply and the week's total to date 25,140,000 larger than during the first three days last week, strength marked initial activities. Light butchers had first and moved quickly at $7.50-7.65, mostly 10c above the average of the previous day. About 4,000 stale hogs were on hand.

Cattle receipts of 11,000 were considered ample for the needs of the midsummer trade. Less than 300 head were billed straight to packers. Quality was somewhat improved over that of the previous day, but liberal water fills kept the major buyers from participating in the early buying movement. Calf receipts, estimated at 8,500, were fully twice the number offered a week ago and lower vealer prices were scheduled.

Packers received 1,900 lambs through billing out of the fresh run of 15,000. Sellers were anxious to see $9.00 lambs, but initial activity indicated a desire on the part of the major operators to hold back.

LINDBERGH AND WIFE NOW ARE RADIO EXPERTS

Both Attain Remarkably Good Averages in Recent Examinations

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Washington—(CFA)—The name of Lindbergh, so boldly inscribed in aviation's hall of fame, ventures into the equally new realm of radio. Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh today are qualified commercial radio operators, capable of transmitting and receiving the international Morse code at the professional speed of 15 words per minute. On their proposed flight to the Orient the Lindberghs are to depend upon radio to chart their course.

This is in sharp contrast to the epochal trans-Atlantic flight made by Lindbergh in 1927, alone and without radio, which won for him world acclaim as fame's fair-haired boy.

It is added evidence of the reliance being placed upon radio as the eyes and ears for aviation in this age of record-shattering flights. Radio and aviation got their start about the same time and have been romping on to new records hand in hand.

Get Good Averages
Both Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh attained "remarkably good" averages in their radio examinations, William D. Terrell, director of radio of the commerce department, declared today, following approval of their license.

The examinations were given at the office of the federal radio supervisors in New York city last Friday and the papers were rated by Forrest F. Redfern, radio inspector there.

Col. Lindbergh's average was 96.07 per cent and that of Mrs. Lindbergh 94 per cent. Col. Lindbergh's license number is 210, in the commercial third class, a special class created for aviation pilots. Mrs. Lindbergh's license bears the number 211.

"From their examination papers," said Mr. Terrell, "it appears that they are better equipped from the radio standpoint than the average pilot who ventures on a long flight."

Mr. Terrell said the third class commercial examination is a rigorous one. "One must be a pretty good operator to pass it," he added, "in addition to the special qualifications in transmission and reception, a general knowledge of apparatus and technical radio is required."

The federal radio commission recently granted an aviation station license for the Lindbergh plane to operate on a series of frequencies. The set installed on the plane for the hazardous hop across the Pacific is unusually light, with a maximum power output of 12 watts, and was designed especially for the flight by H. C. Leuteritz, chief radio engineer of Pan American Airways, with which Col. Lindbergh also is identified.

The Lindberghs plan to take turns both at the plane controls and the radio apparatus.

CONVICT-MADE GOODS SHOULD BE LABELED
Madison—(AP)—A warning to merchants that the state will enforce the law which bans the sale of convict-made goods unless they are so labeled, has been issued by Attorney General John Reynolds.

A number of merchants have been violating the law, Mr. Reynolds said. Some admitted they had been selling overalls manufactured in a prison in a neighboring state while others said they had made sales unintentionally.

The statutes require that goods made in penal institutions be marked "convict-made" and bear the name of the institution and the year of manufacture. A penalty of $100 to $500 is provided by the law for violators.

INGENIOUS PROCESS STOPS VARIATION IN FLAVOR OF COFFEE
Wonderful Flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee Is the Same in Every Pound

Many people have wished for a coffee that didn't vary in flavor. Hills Bros. Coffee is such a coffee. It is roasted by the patented, Controlled Roasting process that absolutely prevents variation!

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow . . . a little at a time . . . so the exquisite, unvarying flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . a little at a time.

Controlled Roasting is different from the ordinary method of roasting several hundred pounds at once. The results—as a cup of Hills Bros. Coffee shows—are very different too! There is a refreshing smoothness that no other coffee has, because no other is roasted the same way. And remember, this marvelous flavor never varies!

Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum cans. Air, which makes coffee go stale, is removed and kept out of these cans. Even ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale! Order some today. Ask for it by name. And look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

DEPUTY SHERIFF IS FACING 3 CHARGES

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Milwaukee County Civil Service commission today had under advisement three charges of conduct unbecoming an officer, preferred by Sheriff Al Benson against Deputy Sheriff George Sullivan.

The Sheriff told the commission Tuesday that he had been lenient in Sullivan's case because the latter had enjoyed a good service record since joining the department in 1921. Sullivan is charged with using liquor to the detriment of his position and was once taken into custody by Milwaukee police for driving while intoxicated.

COUNCIL TO HEAR TAX LAW REPORT

Status of Measure Is Explained by Municipalities League

A report from the League of Wisconsin Municipalities on the status of the law governing the semi-annual payment of city taxes will be included in the report of the finance committee to the common council Wednesday night.

The bill formulated by a league committee and members of the Wisconsin tax commission was passed by both the assembly and the senate with large majorities, but was vetoed by the governor, despite a resolution from the league convention at Marshfield advocating the acceptance of the bill. With the veto, the law governing the semi-annual payment of taxes remains just as it was before.

Because the present law was not feasible and because many cities desired to institute the semi-annual system, but were afraid to because of the legal difficulties which it might entail, the league, at its 1930 convention, authorized the appointment of a special committee to investigate the matter and draw up a new bill. The committee studied the semi-annual plan in 14 other states and with the assistance of members of the tax commission formed a new law.

While some cities now operate under the existing law, they can do it only because they do not comply strictly with the statutes, the league communication points out.

PLAY SAFE MARGIN WHEN INVESTING ON STOCK, BOND MARTS

Middle Course Lies Between Rash Conservatism and Reckless Buying

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
SAFE MIDDLE COURSE

New York—It pays to be temperate in one's idea of what is a proper return on an investment. This does not mean simply that two high a yield is dangerous but that too low a yield is unnecessary. The wise buyer takes the middle course between excessive conservatism and the taking of reckless speculative risks.

The trouble is there is no thrill about being moderate. It does not appeal to the average American in the investment field or in any other. He either wants to take a long chance, lured by an abnormally large interest or dividend rate, or he goes to the other extreme and confines himself to securities which, while assuring him of complete safety, unnecessarily deprive him of adequate income.

Too often he is influenced not by the fundamental facts affecting the stock or bond concerned but by the investment fashion of the time. If that all runs to common stocks he is for common stocks, and if the popular mood is that trade depression is to continue indefinitely and that revival will never come he will have nothing but United States Government bonds. The result is that he finds his safety deposit box holding nothing but speculative stocks when a boom bursts as it did in the fall of 1929 and he finds himself with only low yielding bonds when the market for those securities is beginning to weaken under a slowly rising interest rate brought about by increased borrowings by merchants as business improves.

It takes independent reasoning as well as courage and capital to go against the trend but if done intelligently it spells success. Observe that this applies strictly to investment and not to speculation. The speculator is bound to go with the current. For him to bet that the tide is generally fatal but the investor operating on a smaller scale but for a longer period should take exactly the opposite line.

Movie Directors Need Imagination—Griffith

BY JESSIE HENDERSON

Hollywood—(CFA)—There's been a good bit of chatter lately in this town about what a director should know, so you asked Edward H. Griffith, whose pictures include such wows as "Holiday" and "Rebound," what he considered the chief requisite in directing. Griffith, who is at the Pathe studios, ranks among the three or four real directors in Hollywood.

"Imagination is what a director needs most of all," replied Griffith, when you were all set to hear him say executive ability was of chief importance. "The individual actor can hardly help visualizing the picture by scenes. The individual actor will often begin to believe that he—or she, as the case may be—is really creating the picture."

"I've known an actor to argue for half an hour over changing two or three words in a line. The actor wanted to change them, not that the change would improve the dialogue, but simply because, by changing something in the picture the actor could feel that he had taken a hand in the story as well as in the acting."
